GAS EXPANSE BLAMED FOR BLIMP CRASHCourt of Inquiry Hears First Testimony in Case of Shenandoah Disaster

WITNESSES DISAGREE

Col. Mitchell Says Any Effort to Buy His Silence Is RidiculousLakeland, N. J.—(AP)—A new bit of testimony—that there was unusual expansion of the gas cells before the airship Shenandoah broke up was given Tuesday before the naval court of inquiry investigating the loss of the ship.Lieut. Thomas S. Hendley, communication officer, testified he was awakened by the pressure of a gas cell
on his face and likewise by the unusual angle at which the ship was riding.
Previous testimony had been that at this time the Shenandoah was above her pressure height. That is where the inside pressure of gas equalled the outside pressure of the air.Before Lieut. Hendley was called, Lieut. Charles E. Bauch, watch officer on duty at the time, declared inspection some time before the accident showed the gas pressure was not excessive.Both Lieuts. Hendley and Bauch,
as well as Lieut. Roland G. Mayer, construction officer on board, agreed with other witnesses that the breakup occurred when the ship's nose was suddenly tilted up during a second rapid
ascent.REENACT SCENE
With every survivor at his original station the interior scene in the Shenandoah just before and at the time of the wrecking will be reenacted here
this week on the dirigible Los Angeles for the naval court of inquiry.Each of the 27 survivors now on the ground will take up his position as it was at the time Shenandoah struck the line squall and all will follow the course they pursued up to the point where the big ship broke up and fell.
Thus the court will be able to visualize the scene.One of the three Ohio farmers on whose property parts of the wreckage of the airship Shenandoah fell took in $5,000 in admission charges to tourists and for soft drink concessions, the naval court of inquiry was told here
Tuesday by Commander Jacob H.
Klein, president of the special board which investigated the wreck.This farmer is C. W. Niswonger and it was on his property that the main section of the wreck came to rest. Commander Klein said Niswonger showed him his bank book carrying deposits in this amount from Sept. 3 to 8. Because of this the officers recommended that Niswonger's claim for $500 damages to property be disal-
lowed.WILL TESTIFY
San Antonio, Tex.—(AP)—Col. William Mitchell, just before his departure Tuesday for Washington, where he will be witness next Monday in air probe ordered by President Coolidge declared any effort to "buy his silence"
was "ridiculous.""Set at rest for good and all any report that I can be bought, or influenced by any governmental agency,
private concern or personal appeal,"
Col. Mitchell declared in response to a telegram sent him by a news service.
The telegram referred to a report that a Mitchell would be offered "freedom from court martial if he would not testify," that if he "shut up" he would be appointed chief of the air service in two years.Col. Mitchell was to leave San Antonio Tuesday afternoon. He will drive to Washington where he is ordered to report before the president's board of aeronautic inquiry at 10:30
Monday morning by Major General
Ernest Hinds, commander of the Eighth corps area.SUICIDE THEORY HELD
IN MRS. HOLT'S DEATHWaukegan, Ill.—(AP)—An autopsy report may clear Mrs. Clara Harco, 30, and her step-father, Arthur Holt, 40,
who are held in jail here in connection with the fatal shooting of the former's mother, Mrs. Lillie Holt. Dr.
John Taylor, the Lake-co coroner, believes Mrs. Holt shot herself, it was disclosed Tuesday.Albert Harco, son-in-law of the slain woman, who had been held as a material witness was released Tuesday on $5,000 bond. The purpose of releasing him was to permit him to arrange for the funeral of Mrs. Holt.
His bond was signed by his wife and by Joel Isaacson, reputed to be a Milwaukee manufacturer, and Harco's
employer.UNWILLING MATADOR HOLDS OFF BULL BY PUNCHING ITS NOSESuperior—(AP)—Jamming the mu-zle of his 12-gauge gun repeatedly into the distended nostrils of an enraged bull, Wendell L. Jackson, Saturday afternoon was the unwilling torador in a battle near Port Wing, from which he emerged victorious.Jackson, automobile mechanic
here, was hunting prairie chickens with a party of five. The bull attacked him before he had time to retreat and he staved off vicious charges, sending the bull to the side lines with a bleeding mouth
and nose. James W. McNaughton, state game warden was one of a party of five which vouched for the Spanish encounter.TEST OSHKOSH SEWER PLAN IN SUPREME COURTPossible Ruling for Sewage Disposal Plant Will Apply to Other CitiesMadison—(AP)—Pollution of waters
will receive the attention of the Wisconsin supreme court within the next few months. The case of Naumer against the City of Oshkosh has been set for argument, probably in November.The case involves the right of a city to dump sewage into the waters of the state in sufficient quantities to pollute the streams and lakes; attorneys in the case said. The case has attracted attention in view of efforts being made by the state to remedy the pollution situation. A conference at Park Falls, Oct. 1, has been called by Adolph Kanneberg,
state railroad commissioner, to discuss the prevention of conditions such as existed this summer.John Naumer, a farmer, sought an injunction restraining the city of Oshkosh from dumping its sewage into a bayou of Lake Winnebago, but the injunction was refused in the Winnebago circuit court last December and the appeal was taken to the high court. Naumer alleges that his land adjoining the bayou has been covered with sewage, creating a public nuisance.If an injunction is granted by the supreme court, attorneys said, the city of Oshkosh would be compelled to use some other method of disposing of its sewage, probably by the building of a disposal plant. The ruling of the court would set a precedent which would apply to other cities.FIND WOMAN'S BODY IN FURNACE OF DRY KILNNew York—(AP)—Mrs. Sophie Pole-ski, whose body was found by police Tuesday in the furnace of an east side lumber yard kiln, was placed in the furnace while still alive and was burned to death. Medical Examiner Schwartz announced following an autopsy.Two fractures were found on the woman's skull. George Synpuk, fireman in charge of the furnace was arrested and charged with Mrs. Poleski's death after a policeman had been attracted to the lumber yard
by woman's screams.STEAL REGISTERED MAIL

For French Debt SettlingBY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—The great battle of diplomacy—the settlement of France's war debt to America—is about to begin.Ever since 1918 the jockeying of the Europeans for a favorable position with American public opinion has been going on with relatively little success. The American government under Democratic as well as Republican administrations has insisted that the French could pay, that cancellation was not only out of the question
but actually would do harm to the credit structure of civilized powers.Now after many maneuvers the French mission is about to propose a settlement. Repudiation is no longer heard. Cancellation is not even asked.
Reduction of the total debt by lowering interest charges is all that the French really expect together, perhaps with a spread of payments over a period of years that will least strain
the French budget.The British themselves have conceded the idea that France should get better terms and it may be stated positively at this writing that France will get better terms than Great Britain. The term of years, of course, will be 62. This doesn't disturb France, what is more important is how much shall France be required to pay each year. Hints have been sent out in the radio messages from the ship carrying M. Caillaux and the French mission that payments will be begun with the very next fiscal year. No official comment is forthcoming, of course, as the American commissioners know better than to argue their case on the basis of press telegrams
but the French nevertheless have put out a tempting proposal.All other suggestions heretofore have been that the French would want a few years suspension of payments on both interest and principal and would
in reality postpone the heavy burden
till the future hoping that an altered political and economic situation 10 years hence would enable future
French ministries to get better terms of America on a possible revision.The proposal now to begin immediate payments means that the French think the American people will look with enthusiasm on actual cash coming in the very next fiscal year so it can be taken into account in the budget to be presented by President Coolidge to congress, thus helping immediately to relieve the American taxpayer. Also it will aid the budget makers in the next years as political expedients develop. For it is no secret that the Coolidge administration intends to go to the American people next autumn with a battery-boasting a settlement with all European debtors and with actual money coming in from all of them.GERMAN FISH COSTLY TO FRENCH AVIATORSParis—(AP)—Germany, it now develops, is asking 3,000 marks reparation for "damage caused to the fish
when the French aviator Dieudonne Coste fell into the river near Freiburg-Im-Breisgau, Baden, and the French are facetiously asking whether the stream is stocked with gold-fish.Coste has been held by the Germans since Sept. 13, the date of the accident in which his companion, Robert E. Thierly, was killed. In addition to the reparations for the fish
the German government is demanding a payment of 6,000 mark fine for flying over German territory without permission. It is expected the matter will be amicably arranged.HOLD MAN BELIEVED TO BE CHAPMAN'S PARTNERWinterhaven, Fla.—(AP)—A man believed by police to be George "Dutch"
Anderson, former accomplice of Gerald Chapman but who gave his name as E. L. Bullman, former mayor of Williamstown, V. Va. and once the head of an electric company at Marinetta, Ohio, was arrested here
Tuesday.Police said they received a tip
that the man believed to be Anderson was on his way to this city and his arrest resulted. He was ordered held in jail pending complete identification.The man was well dressed and carried Masonic cards but when questioned by Masons gave unsatisfactory answers and could not establish connection with a Masonic lodge. Finger prints of the prisoner were said to tally with those of Anderson.The man was well dressed and car-

CAUSES DAMAGES
OF ONE MILLIONBiggest Blaze in Tijuana City History Destroys Entire Business BlockSan Diego, Calif.—(AP)—Flames starting in the Vernon club in Tijuana, early Tuesday morning swept through an entire block that included some of the best known resorts in the border
city, causing a loss that business men of the town estimated would total nearly $1,000,000.Reports from the border town were to the effect that the fire broke out in the kitchen attached to the Vernon club shortly after 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. Fanned by a moderate early morning wind, the blaze quickly spread to adjoining structures, and within a few minutes one of the worst fires in the history of Tijuana was under full headway.A few minutes after the pumps were started the water supply gave out and there was, then, nothing for the fire department and the inhabitants of the town to do but stand helplessly by and watch the spread of the flames.Thirty minutes after the start of the fire practically all the structures
in the block were ablaze.POSSE HUNTS MAN WHO SLEW SHERIFF, CHIEFToluca, Ill.—(AP)—A man hunt was being pressed here Tuesday for Joseph Stemas, 60, crazed miner who shot and killed Sheriff Orville Litchfield, 23, and John Leonard, 55, night
chief of police when the officers tried to arrest him Monday night. The killer shot the officers down when they burst through the bolted doors of his home. Business Tuesday was practically at a standstill, for every available man was under arms and a posse was beating through the corn fields
a mile and a half north of Toluca
where it was believed the crazed miner had been tracked. The posse was equipped with tear gas bombs.
The killing of the officers resulted when Stemas, after being badly beaten by her husband, went to Chief Leonard with her story.MAKER OF HATS FOR PRESIDENTS IS DEADMilwaukee—(AP)—Byron W. Kuhn, maker of presidential hats, died here Tuesday at the age of 73 years, after two years illness.Mr. Kuhn, a pioneer of Milwaukee, was one of the few hat makers here in the earlier days. During his active years he made hats for six presidents,
U. S. Grant, R. B. Hayes, Grover Cleveland, Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft and Warren G. Harding.
The hats he made for the presidents were in the nature of gifts. A great admirer of President Grant, Kuhn obtained the hat the president was wearing when it was sent to his establishment to be cleaned. In a short time President Grant received a silk hat from Kuhn. From time to time the head size of each of the succeeding presidents came into Kuhn's possession and in a short time a new silk topper was sent to the White House.HAGEN TRAILS WATROUS
IN NATIONAL GOLF TILTChicago—(AP)—Walter Hagen, of Pasadena, faltered Tuesday in defending his title as professional golf champion and finished the first 18
holes over No. 3 course at Olympia Fields Country club two down to Watrous, of Grand Rapids. Watrous did not score as well as he did Monday in winning a gold medal with a pair of 70's, but he was only 4 above
par with a 74, while Hagen took 39-35-77 and managed to keep from being further in the rear only by playing well near the close of the morning round.BANDITS BIND AND GAG
GARAGEMAN, TAKE $93Whitewater—(AP)—Three bandits
Monday night entered the John Waters garage here, held Waters captive at pistol points gagged and bound him, and then rifled the garage of $50 in cash and a check for $42. They escaped.

POISON TRIAL

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tate, are being tried at Marion, Ill., for the murder of Mrs. Tate's first husband, Jodie Herrington. Poison was found in Herrington's body after it was exhumed. The prosecution was obtained 12 jurors, all of whom said they would be willing to vote to hang a woman if the evidence were sufficient.WANTS SUPREME COURT TO PASS
BOY IN SCHOOLChippewa Falls Boy Barred from First Grade Because He Is Not Six YearsMadison—(AP)—The King case of Chippewa Falls, involving the right of a board of education to restrict the admission of children to the public schools on the basis of age, was taken under consideration by the Wisconsin
supreme court Tuesday.The Chippewa Falls board of education adopted a rule that pupils will be admitted to the first grade, provided they became six years old before the close of the school year.The son of William A. King, was barred from entering the first grade
last year because he would not become six years old until June, 1925.
The lower court held the board's rule was unconstitutional and issued a writ of mandamus ordering admission of the King boy to the first grade.The Rosendale school district was assigned Tuesday for argument in November. In the case, the circuit court of Fond du Lac ruled that the school laws enacted by the last legislature for the detachment of territory from a district do not permit decreasing the size of a union free
high school district to less than 36
square miles.SUCCESSFUL MAN KEEPS MOUTH SHUT, SAYS GARYNew York—(AP)—Golden silence is one of the cardinal rules for success
in business as laid down by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation."The average man talks too much especially if he has a good command
of the language," Mr. Gary said
Monday night in an address to commerce students of New York university."It is well to let the other man talk half of the time.""The average man talks too much
especially if he has a good command
of the language," Mr. Gary said
Monday night in an address to commerce students of New York university."U" WORTHY OF SUPPORT, SAYS PREXYGlenn Frank Compliments
Wisconsin on Its Educational DevelopmentLaCrosse—(AP)—Glenn Frank, new president of the University of Wisconsin, in an address at the Interstate fair here Tuesday, told of his confidence that adequate support would be given the university. He spoke at the dedication of a five-year building program of the fair, and his talk was the first in which he has mentioned the university since coming to Wisconsin.After complimenting Wisconsin on its educational development and declaring that its educational institutions must preserve and promote sound scholarship, Dr. Frank said:
"There can be no question of the adequate support of education among a people that fully realizes that its educational institutions are not only dedicated to the task of educating individual students, but also devoted to the achievement of what the Greeks called the good life for all the people of the state. And I believe that the future will more and more challenge
the University of Wisconsin to make direct and dynamic contributions toward the achievement of the good life for the whole people of Wisconsin.""I do not mean by this contributions that necessarily involve any in-imate interlocking of the machinery and personnel of the university with the machinery and personnel of the state government. We do not yet know the exact technique by which our universities can render their highest service to the state that fathers them and feeds them. That is a problem that remains to be solved. And I hope that Wisconsin may lead in its solution. But at least we know that the university is obligated to make contributions of knowledge and of inspiration that shall go directly into the every day thinking and living and working of the people of the state."CHICAGO SCIENTISTS MAKE NEW T. B. FINDChicago, Ill.—(AP)—Two university of Chicago scientists, Dr. Alexander A. Maximow and Dr. F. J. Lang, as a result of watching the growth of disease in living tissue through a microscope, have announced that their experiment has established that tuberculosis nodules have a growth from two sources—the histiocytes, or cells
of the lung tissue, and the white corpuscles of the blood.The discovery, Dr. Maximow pointed out, does not mean that tuberculosis
is what is called a blood disease.
But he believes the information derived through the experiment may help materially in treating the disease.
The experiment was made on a section of a rabbit's lung, infected with tubercular bacilli.BADGER NEWSPAPERMEN
HOLD ANNUAL MEETINGRacine—(AP)—The Wisconsin Daily Newspaper league went into annual session at the Elks club here Tuesday. President F. R. Starbuck, of this city, welcomed the publishers to Racine and was followed by John T.
Griffith, associate editor of the Racine Journal-News who made a short talk dealing with cooperation among publishers and abolition of "cut throat competition."The business session opens Tuesday afternoon. The program embraces a number of talks by prominent newspapermen. The session will be concluded Tuesday.Dr. Butler And Sen. Walsh

to popular sentiment against prohibition are held by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, and Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana.Dr. Butler in declining a challenge to debate the subject with Representative William D. Upshaw, of Georgia, said his voluminous correspondence indicates that the present prohibition policy would lose 5 to 3 in a national referendum.Senator Walsh, who returned from a European tour Monday said that while there is much hallyhooing in

DOCUMENT STATESLondon—(AP)—Adam died of the gout, says an ancient document held by the Herald's college of London.The document the origin of which is unknown but which was written in the sixteenth century, professes to trace the genealogy of the Saxon kings back to Adam and Eve.
It asserts that Adam succumbed to the "gout" and was buried in Hebron. "Whether if he had continued to eat an apple a day he would have kept the doctor away is not mentioned."MILWAUKEE-CO

cause of Committee's Indorsement of LaFolletteMilwaukee—(AP)—Three members of the Milwaukee-co Republican committee Monday night resigned after considerable difficulties had developed Saturday night relative to the endorsement of the Republican nominee for United States senator, Robert M.
LaFollette, Jr.
Charles Frank, Herbert L. Schut-
z and Paul G. Dore sent their resignation from the committee to Frank E. Davidson. The resignations came as the result of certain members of the executive committee having endorsed the candidacy of LaFollette.
"There" was little added impetus to the campaign Tuesday, LaFollette was still on his swing-around the state,
the only candidate for the office
other than John M. Work, Socialist nominee, who has made any active appeal for votes in the final drive.Edward W. Dithmar, anti-LaFollette Republican, running for election as United States senator from Wisconsin as an independent, will open his campaign here Wednesday night. This announcement was made by William L. Pipelow, of Milwaukee, who will introduce Mr. Dithmar at his opening address.Decision to open the campaign
Wednesday leaves him but five days to present his platform and issues to the people. According to present plans, he intends making most of his campaign talks in the vicinity of Milwaukee.THIEVES TAKE COSTLY

the Behler and Adolph Williams garages at Hayward, Wis., Sunday night and escaped with $150 in cash, and some valuable papers, besides a high priced new 1925 model car belonging to H. Peters, new cashier of the Sawyer County bank at Hayward, which was stored in the Williams' garage.
Both garages were closed during the day. No clue to identity of the robbers had been obtained, though authorities throughout the country have been notified to be on the lookout for them. Tracks in the frosty ground in-

Wilbur before the President's air board.Called as the first witness of the day by the board, which Monday inquired into the policy of the war department and the army air service,
Mr. Wilbur emphatically opposed creation of a department of national defense. Such a step, he declared would be a "well nigh impossible mistake.""Air forces," he asserted "form an essential part of the fabric of the navy itself, and its administration and its organization like all other administration problems internal to the navy,
will if unmoored by outside influence
be solved with the same efficiency and with the same happy results as has been obtained in similar problems in the past."The secretary likewise expressed opposition to establishment of the naval corps and declared against a single air service maintained for national defense, but not under the army or navy."The navy," he said, "requires its own air force as a vital element of a naval battle," adding that if a "vitality" component part of the navy is under the direction and authority of an independent air service, it removes from the naval commander that unity of command in time of battle, and that uniformity of training in time of peace which every war has proved to be essential to victory."

DEFINES MISSION

The secretary launched into a broad discussion of the tactical relation of the air service to other military arms.
"The mission of the army and navy,
in peace or war," he said "is to support and defend the national policies. The air service, even if an independent arm, can have no other distinct mission. If it should become necessary to maintain the national policies by force, the army and navy operate under specific missions for each.""The great war mission of the navy may be briefly stated as to gain and exercise command of the sea. This in its essential means the control of the sea communications."
The objects which would be taken on by the navy in order to accomplish this great war mission would probably be, first, to destroy or blockade the enemy fleet; second, to protect our commerce; third, to destroy the enemy's commerce in order to bring economic pressure to bear on him, and if our rights still continue to be denied, fourth, to transport the army in order to break down remaining enemy resistance."The mission of a naval force of arm thereof in the same manner as sailorily to assist the navy in carrying out its war mission. Naval aviation is today organized as an integral part of the navy and constitutes an arm thereof in the

BLIND OF VALLEY SEEK FUNDS TO ERECT FACTORY

Benefit Dance Here Will Raise Money to Establish Broom
Plant in Oshkosh

Benefit dances, theatrical performances, drives and tag days are some of the ways in which the Fox River Valley Association for the Blind will endeavor to raise money to build a broom factory to aid the blind to help themselves. A plot of land on W. Algonquin, Oshkosh, on which the association will have the privilege of building a factory has been donated by a Miss Froelich of Oshkosh. The first benefit dance will be given Saturday, Sept. 26 at Eagle hall. The Kansas City orchestra has donated its services for the evening, and the Eagle lodge has donated its hall.

Plans are being made by the association to have a benefit drive, starting Oct. 1, to be conducted in each city of the Fox river valley. By means of the drive, tag days, benefit dances and the sale of handwork made by the blind, it is hoped that enough money will be raised to build the broom factory early in spring and get the blind persons started at their work. After the factory has obtained a firm foot hold, the association plans to send out salesmen to sell the brooms and take contracts and orders.

The broom factory industry by the blind started in Kaukauna, where Edward Feltmann, who has a small business of his own, has given the blind the use of his factory, services and capital.

There are 46 blind persons in north-eastern Wisconsin, 20 or 30 of whom are members of the Fox River Valley Association for the Blind. Officers of the association are: President, Cedric Fournier, Green Bay; vice president, Edward Feltmann, Kaukauna; secretary, Dr. Ralph Horton, Appleton; treasurer, Miss Alice Otto, Appleton.

The Badger Advancement Association for the Blind, which is located at Milwaukee and the state agency for the blind met with the Fox River Valley association Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Otto, 705 S. Outagamie-st., and decided to co-operate with it in its undertaking.

"PERSONAL APPEARANCE" COURSE AT TRADE SCHOOL

A new course in beauty culture, to be known as personal appearance, will be offered girls attending the Vocational school this year. It was announced Monday with the engaging of Miss Ellen Malone as instructor. The course will involve a study of the care of the skin, hair, teeth, feet, finger-nails and other matters of personal hygiene.

"The adding of the personal appearance course to the curriculum will fill a long felt need in serving the young women attending the school," said Herb Hellig, director of the school. "We have attempted to offer such a course before, but until now we have never been able to secure a competent teacher on a part time basis."

Miss Malone is a graduate of the Appleton high school and of the Marshall school, Chicago. The course will be offered the last period in the day.

Mr. Hellig and the Misses Malone and Mabel Burke, visited the Green Bay Vocational school last Friday where they inspected methods employed by that institution in teaching a similar course.

Going Some!

A single pair of rats, breeding uninterruptedly and without deaths, would at the end of three years, be increased to 259,709,482 individual rats.

This is a startling statement, but it is made on authority of the scientists of the United States Biological Survey.

The common mouse increases almost as fast as the rat.

These facts show why it is necessary to trap and kill rats and mice to keep them from over-running the house.

If left to themselves, they multiply, destroy food and other valuable property, and spread disease. Write today for an illustrated booklet describing the most practical household methods for getting rid of rats and mice. ## Chattel Mortgage Records Explain "How It Is Done"

The answer to the question, "How do they do it?" has been found. Appleton rides to luxury via the chattel mortgage route at the rate of approximately $50,000 a month.

In other words about 75 automobiles purchased during the last month or two are not paid for, as the owners gave a chattel mortgage to the garage owner as security, according to a record compiled by the Merchants' Information bureau. Old Dame Prosperity seems to be the deciding factor as to whether people should ride or walk.

Chattel mortgages filed during the month of August at the city hall totaled $56,423.07, the records show. The number which name automobile dealers as the mortgagee aggregates $46,454, leaving $9,968.26 as representing money borrowed or credit extended for other purposes.

Most of the dealers holding these mortgages are those who sell automobiles of moderate price. About $15,000 is for cars of the cheaper type.

Many of the car purchasers, however, have money to pay down on the deals. The list shows 28 mortgages under $500, 18 in amounts of $500 to $1,000, 9 above $1,000 and 14 that are group loans negotiated by garages to finance several sales at once.

Those mortgages not issued for automobiles are for store equipment, machinery, and personal expenditures.

THIRD WARD WOMAN STILL PICKS BERRIES

Most people stop eating raspberries about the middle of August unless the berries they eat are of the canned variety, for the regular raspberry season is at an end by that time. However, there are a few people fortunate enough to have fresh raspberries late into the fall, in fact until a heavy frost comes. Among Appleton people who have a fine crop of these ever-bearing raspberries is Mrs. J. W. Doyle, 620 W. Third-st. The berries of the fall variety are said to be very sweet and extra large.

NOTED SOPRANO SINGS HERE NEXT TUESDAY

The hundreds who will be at Lawrence Memorial chapel Tuesday evening of next week for the opening number of the American Legion auxiliary's artist course are to have an especially enjoyable program because two artists will appear. The audience will be entertained not only by Jaroslav Gons, noted cellist, but they are to hear a gifted soprano soloist, Esther Lundy Newcomb.

Miss Newcomb thought so much of American audiences that she turned down a 3-year offer to sing in Covent Garden of London, England. She became instantly popular after making her debut in this country and the number of repeat engagements she has had indicates how well she is liked.

Tickets now are being sold for the course by a group of teams and may be obtained and delivered by telephoning Mrs. Phil Miller, No. 812. Seat reservation for the season takes place Friday at Belling drug store.

RIVERVIEW P-T CLUB HOLDS FIRST MEETING

The Parent-Teacher association of Riverview school will hold its first meeting of the season Friday evening Sept. 26 at the school house. Officers for the coming year will be elected, followed by a marshmallow and Weiner roast. Miss Marion Tuttle is teacher.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS TO HAVE HOCKEY TEAM

Hockey for girls at Appleton high school will be started this year as the result of plans made by the Girl Athletic Association last week. The first high school grounds will be used for the sport one day a week. Last year the girls tried to work up interest in the sport, but they were forced to tramp to Jones park, and interest soon died out.

PURCHASES COFFIN AND CEMETERY LOT; DIES 10 DAYS LATER

Manitowish—Ten days ago while in apparently good health, Mrs. Fredricka Puls, 75, who died Saturday, made complete arrangements for her funeral.

After visiting Evergreen cemetery, where she selected a lot and provided for its perpetual care, she called on a marble worker from whom she bought a tombstone. Then she went to an undertaker and purchased a coffin.

Mrs. Puls said she was not sick and explained that a person of her age ought to give affairs of that kind attention. Two days later she was taken to the hospital.

LARGE SALE OF ARTIST TICKETS

Community Artist Course
Managers Gratified at Support of Public

Sale of season tickets for the Community Artist series which opens this year on Oct. 12 with a program by Queenie Mario, noted coloratura soprano, has been quite gratifying to the management. There has been a steady increase in the concert course since the opening of reservations. It is reported. Numerous inquiries are being made daily at the Conservatory of Music about the various numbers of the season's course.

Queenie Mario is one of the sensations of the operatic world. She is an American trained by Madame Sembrich for her career in the opera. Her voice is of the coloratura soprano kind and is similar to that of Sembrich itself with a range of color that is unusual in that type. Miss Mario's appearances with the Metropolitan Opera company, New York, have been a series of outstanding successes.

On the Community Artist series with Miss Mario, are Kathryn Meisle, leading contralto of the Chicago Opera, Oct. 23; the United States Marine band, Nov. 2; Arthur Shattuck, pianist, Jan. 12; Les Reine singers and Edward Dilling, harpist, Jan. 21, and Jacques Thibaud, the great violinist, Feb. 8.

APPLETON SENDS FIRST POLICE DOG TO PANAMA

The first German police dog ever sent to Panama from this country was put on the train Wednesday by Edward Rahmlow, proprietor of the Rahmlow Farms on route 4. The dog was purchased from Rahmlow by W. E. MacHale of Lari Talamanca, Panama, who intends to raise it for the express purpose of determining whether this breed of dog can live in that country. If the experiment proves successful, MacHale plans to raise police dogs on a large scale.

No police dog has ever been brought to Panama so far as MacHale is aware, according to Rahmlow. The experiment will be a new venture in that country but should show whether such a breed of dog can survive in the tropics.

WHAT THE GREAT MINDS OF ALL TIME SAY ABOUT MUSIC

I HAVE always believed that it was essential for successful business that a man be possessed of sentiment, love of music, and an appreciation of the beautiful things of life.

—CHARLES M. SCHWAB.

GIVE us, O give us the man who sings at his work! He will do more in the same time—he will do it better—he will persevere longer. One is scarcely sensible of fatigue whilst he marches to music.

—CARLYLE.

Music is a stimulant to mental exertion.

—DISRAELI.

Music Contributes to Success In Nation and Industry and Home

POETS and philosophers and women and children are not the only ones who pay tribute to music. Strong, virile men of action are also among its most earnest advocates.

Giants in mentality and force—statesmen who have helped shape the destiny of nations and the great captains of industry who have grappled with its difficult problems and through their indomitable will, their straight thinking and untiring energy have wrested for America the supremacy of the world—these men say music has helped them, that it is more than a pleasure, it is a force—a stimulant to achievement.

Charles M. Schwab is emphatic in his statement as to the value of music in aiding efficiency as well as contributing to the pleasures of life. Lloyd George, Theodore Roosevelt, Frick, Carnegie, Pershing and a multitude of other men of large accomplishment have all testified to the practical value of music in daily life.

ARMS FOR EVERYBODY?

Judge Mulqueen of New York after many years of dealing with criminals from the bench has come to a strange conclusion.

He thinks we should all go back to frontier times, strap guns about our waists or plump them in our pockets, practice up and beat the criminal to the draw.

We don't agree with the judge, but we sympathize with him. His plan is simply the logical extreme of the policy already in force.

As matters stand, the criminal gets a gun and knows how to use it. Many householders buy guns, and do not. Practice is difficult, and not a popular fad. So the automatic is left loaded somewhere about the house, where the children may eventually find it and see if there's anything in it. And if a burglar comes, he shoots first.

The nerve-shattered, moronic, or ill-balanced weaklings of society get guns easily to right imagined wrongs and persecutions, and sate an inflated sense of injury. Without guns this class would be harmless.

Judge Mulqueen thinks we might as well get some practical use out of the gun habit if we are bound to have it. We might as well put a gun in the pocket of the sensible and brave man as well as that of the fool, and make the pistol an honest-fared weapon of all society, with a certain aura of popularity thrown about its expert employment. The weakling and criminal would then think twice before they drew, and a bad man would last about as long as he used to last in a real up-to-date western town with a good sheriff.

Of course there is another way out, and that is to prohibit the manufacture and sale of pistols, which are nothing but man killers. That would possibly require a constitutional amendment to remove the obsolete militia section about infringement of the right to bear arms. If we are to confess that we cannot disarm society and its enemies, the Mulqueen scheme may be the only ultimate solution.

A PROHIBITION HOAX?

Rev. Clarence True Wilson doubts the authenticity of the Federal Council of Churches' report on prohibition and regards it rather bitterly as a huge practical joke.

The Associated Press never grants its imprimatur to a fraud, and the newspapers have been wholly justified in their assumption that this great newgathering organization made a thorough investigation of its own before it lent its name to the publication of the council statement. But assume for the sake of argument that the six research articles are what the Rev. Mr. Wilson fears them to be.

The tragic effect of a practical joke is usually the measure of its success. On that ground the council articles are about the kindest hoax ever played. As a practical joke they are a complete failure. They are a revelation of truths about prohibition which its best and most progressive friends—not the stubborn upholders of precise methods and precise formulas—have long felt should be given publicity. Intrinsically they are valuable because temperately written and clearly the result of painstaking research. If the Federal Council of Churches were not responsible for the report of its splendid research department, the public would pass its thanks along to the author. The cause of real and practical prohibition is the better for the release of this information.

A CITIZEN EARL

Great to-do is being made over the choice placed before an American citizen and Wyoming ranchman named Oliver H. Wallop, who has just been informed that the death of his elder brother makes him seventh Earl of Portsmouth. The Louisville Post declares that our law-passed in 1906 requires him at once either to renounce American citizenship or renounce his title.

If it does, the meaning of that law will have to be considerably distorted. Wallop became a citizen two years before its passage, by naturalization. Even if he had waited until after 1906, he would have been required to renounce no titles, for he possessed none—if we except the style of "honorary" before his name as a younger son. The law applies only in case of a person titled at the time of application.

Wallop has been hiring cowboys on his western ranch and voting as a good American for many years. He can go on voting, so far as our laws are concerned, and sign himself Earl as much as he likes. Probably he will actually expatriate himself and renew his complete allegiance to Britain, but for entirely another reason—because the British laws might make it hard for him to assume the very desirable prerogatives of his rank and rule over a juicy estate estimated some years ago at $6,000 acres if he didn't.

It might be a good democratic step to declare that any American who accepts a foreign title automatically expatriates himself. That would be in line with the constitutional provision against grant of titles by our own government, and the requirement of congressional consent to acceptance of foreign titles on the part of federal officials. It would also be in line with the naturalization proviso—which of course means nothing at all if a man can accept a title the day after naturalization.

But the fact remains that under present statutes O. H. Wallop can be an American citizen and a British earl at the same moment.

CHOOSING OCCUPATIONS

Years ago fond parents devoted winter evenings to deciding the futures of their numerous offspring. Johnny was to be a teacher. Mary would be a trained nurse. Willie would be tutored in the ministry, and perhaps a fourth progeny would be placed in business or kept on the farm. And in the day time the school instructors of Johnny, Marie, Willie and so on believed they had fulfilled their duty if they prepared them for graduation. Few teachers realized that their's was an exceptional opportunity to help young men and women to pick their life's work on the basis of their individual qualifications and peculiar abilities.

All is different in the educational system of today. Vocational guidance is an established science. The public schools and the institutions of higher learning now strive to fit the curriculum to the student, not the student to the course of study. The student at the same time is directed into a life's work for which he is especially suited.

Many men and women now failures in life might have been preeminent in their professions or trades had an ounce of direction been exerted in their youth to the selection of a career. A boy with an aptitude for mechanics and the engineering branches should not be forced into a legal or literary career because a parent or an instructor is partial to those latter occupations, yet countless have been and many will be in the future.

There is a "destiny which shapes our ends" if it is the power which attracts the individual to that thing in life for which it is most fitted by nature.

All work and no pay makes jack a scarce article.

There's many a roughneck in a soft collar.

There are those who work because they are too lazy to loaf.

The hand that rocks the steering wheel is the hand that ruins the world.

The quickest way to get a boy to take a bath is by asking him to water the lawn.

A girl friend tells us she refused a man's heart because his face went with it.

There is no excuse for a bachelor's being a good liar.

It's hard to worry about the serious coal situation in August.

Every man thinks he could think of something different for breakfast, but his wife knows he couldn't.

THE FEET AS VESTIGIAL APPENDAGES

In a traffic jam it is not difficult to fear that feet are destined to follow the tonsils, wisdom teeth, gallbladder and appendix into evolutionary desuetude, and the fear is not assuaged when one finally gets through by exhibiting the talons which the alert traffic cop distinguishes doctors from folks, to find these inquiries on the very top of the first pile of the day's mail:

Would you mind helping a feller out...I have trouble with my feet, little blisters between the toes. There is no odor only they itch so bad the skin cracks. One doctor recommended that I use alum, and another gave me inward medicine—he said it was rheumatic trouble...I walk two miles every morning and again every evening, but sit all day at the bench. I weigh 195 pounds, which I am six feet tall and weigh 195 pounds, which I think is rather too much. (Mr. D. G.)

Each summer the skin between the toes of my feet gets raw and waters and itches, also cracks in the clefts between the toes. I wash my feet twice a day with salt water and iodine water and put on camphor or medicated salve, but the trouble does not stop. (L. C. R.)

I am a business woman, but nevertheless walk about seven miles a day. I suffer from blistered feet. The blisters seem to come in little crops between the toes, with watering and much itching. Is there any relief from this aside from giving up the walking? I hate to think I must give it up now, because it has wrought a miracle for me in the way of improved health and appearance. (J. H. C.)

When we think of the careless way in which nearly every one insults his feet with unhygienic footwear the only wonder is that a few, a very few people escape the more annoying or painful results of this bad habit. If any part of the body needs porous loose clothing which will not interfere too much with ventilation and evaporation, it is the feet, yet by fashion and custom we encase the feet in a particularly imprevise covering at all times.

The only effective remedy I can suggest for this common affliction is going barefooted. The feet, however, will probably be kept covered long after everything else has been revealed, because centuries of crude footwear have made these appendages such an ugly sight to behold.

If you can't or will not go candidly barefoot, then go as bare of foot as you will or can when ever you can. This applies not only to the conditions complained of by our three correspondents to-day but also to excessive sweating of the feet, foul odor from the feet, corns, calluses, bunions, weak or pronated or the early or functional stage of flat feet and even the just tired, aching, burning or painful feet.

I know some perfectly sensible women who have the excellent health habit of working in the gardens barefoot while some of their sickly misguided neighbors sit indoors suffering with shock and whatever symptoms they've gleaned from the days readings.

Any footwear, shoes, stockings, moccasins or whatnot, in any circumstances, is only a necessary evil incident to the unnatural civilized life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some General Rules for Saving the Feet From the Harm Done by Footwear.

1. Use no hot water on the feet. If you must wash your feet at all use only cold water, and the less of that the better.
2. Avoid constriction of the foot or leg.
3. If you can't go barefooted a while every day, immerse feet and toe exercises in your daily keeping fit schedule.
4. Plain talcum, such as is commonly used to dust a the casing before inserting the inner tube, may be freely dusted in the shoes and the toes of the stockings to keep the feet cool. Friction of the feet is responsible for many foot troubles.
5. The similar use of boric acid dusting powder is advisable when there is foul odor.

An Appleton lawyer says that most automobile collisions that find their way into court are the result of driving at the rate of 15 to 20 miles an hour. That is what the testimony shows. That's a most dangerous speed. Either drive 1 to 10 miles an hour, or 20 to 60 miles an hour, or don't drive at all.

From court testimony it also appears that a reckless driver is one who whose motor enables him to pass the other fellow on the road.

LAW IS NEEDED TO STOP MOTOR OIL SWINDLES

Congress Will Be Asked to Stop Substitution Evil Now Prevalent in U. S.

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—Legislation will be asked of congress at the approaching session that will protect the motoring public against the substitution evil. At the same time every state legislator that meets will be urged to enact a law with a similar object. This will be the next step in the drive that the national vigilance committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the world is making in conjunction with local Better Business Bureaus and with one or two large corporations.

Exactly what form the projected federal legislation will take has not been announced and it is understood that the attorneys who have been consulted are somewhat in doubt that a measure can be framed that would stand a test of its constitutionality. It is recognized that the law under which the federal trade commission operates, which is aimed at unfair practices and competition in interstate commerce, does not meet the situation, as the substitution evil commences, as the substitution evil commences but in local transactions. If the problem can be dealt with through a Federal law it will probably be under the authority Congress has to protect trademarks.

PERHAPS ENACT MODEL
If it is decided that constitutional and effective legislation along this line can not be passed by congress, the law to the District of Columbia, and this measure will be taken as a model for bills pressed for consideration by state legislatures.

Such a law, it is said, would prohibit a dealer from selling any substitute for a trademarked article in such a manner as to lead the customer to believe he was getting the trademarked article for which he had asked. Such fines and penalties would be provided for each case of such illegal substitution, and the manufacturer of the trademarked article would be given grounds for a damage suit against the offending dealer. There may also be some provision under which the customer could get action against the dealer who had cheated or deceived him, but in any event the customer could cause the arrest and prosecution of the offender.

Just how effectively to safeguard motorists against the substitution evil is admittedly a difficult problem. In the matter of oil, for example, it is extremely easy to deceive the average driver of a car who stops at a service station and asks for a quart or two of lubricant of a certain grade or brand, for the driver has to go to a lot of trouble to make sure that he gets exactly what he has ordered. Most motorists are in too much of a hurry, or are too careless or indifferent to do this, and never realize they have been victimized until a general hullabaloo is raised about the practice of substituting.

EVIL IS EXTENSIVE

That the evil of substitution is a real one is freely asserted by investigators of eter Business Bureaus that are seeking to guard the public's interests and by representatives of manufacturers. It extends throughout the country and reaches into every city and town in which an inquiry has been instituted. Just what this fraud amounts to in dollars and cents in the course of a year can not even be estimated, but that it runs

Q. Are oranges native to Florida? Z. F.

A. Oranges trees were found growing wild when the State was settled, but it is supposed that they were introduced in the early days by the Spaniards. It is presumed that their native home was Southeastern Asia.

Q. When were the Norse American stamps first issued? R. H. D.

A. The Post Office Department says that the Norse American commemorative stamps were first issued on May 15th of this year. They were issued in 2 and 5 cent denominations.

Q. Is there such a thing as a Citizens Naval Training Camp? C. F. G.

A. There is no training given in the Navy which corresponds to the Citizens' Military Training Camps.

Q. What causes boils? E. B. P.

A. There are some persons who are peculiarly susceptible to infection with pus bacteria, and so, suffer very much from boils. Not infrequently it is found that occupation or clothing play a part. Dusty occupations, because of their jumping habit. Likewise, most people upon encountering real fleas in sandy places refer to them as sand fleas. In this connection the name is a misnomer. All true fleas are dependent upon blood for their existence. An animal host is therefore necessary at some stage in the existence of every flea for its survival. Flea eggs for the most part are deposited upon the host by the female while feeding. The eggs drop off to the ground and here they hatch. If animal refuse is already present or another host comes along, development continues; but in case no food is available the young larvae perish. However, fleas are capable of living several months without food.

Q. Where does asbestos come from? E. A.

A. Canada produces 88 per cent of the world's supply.

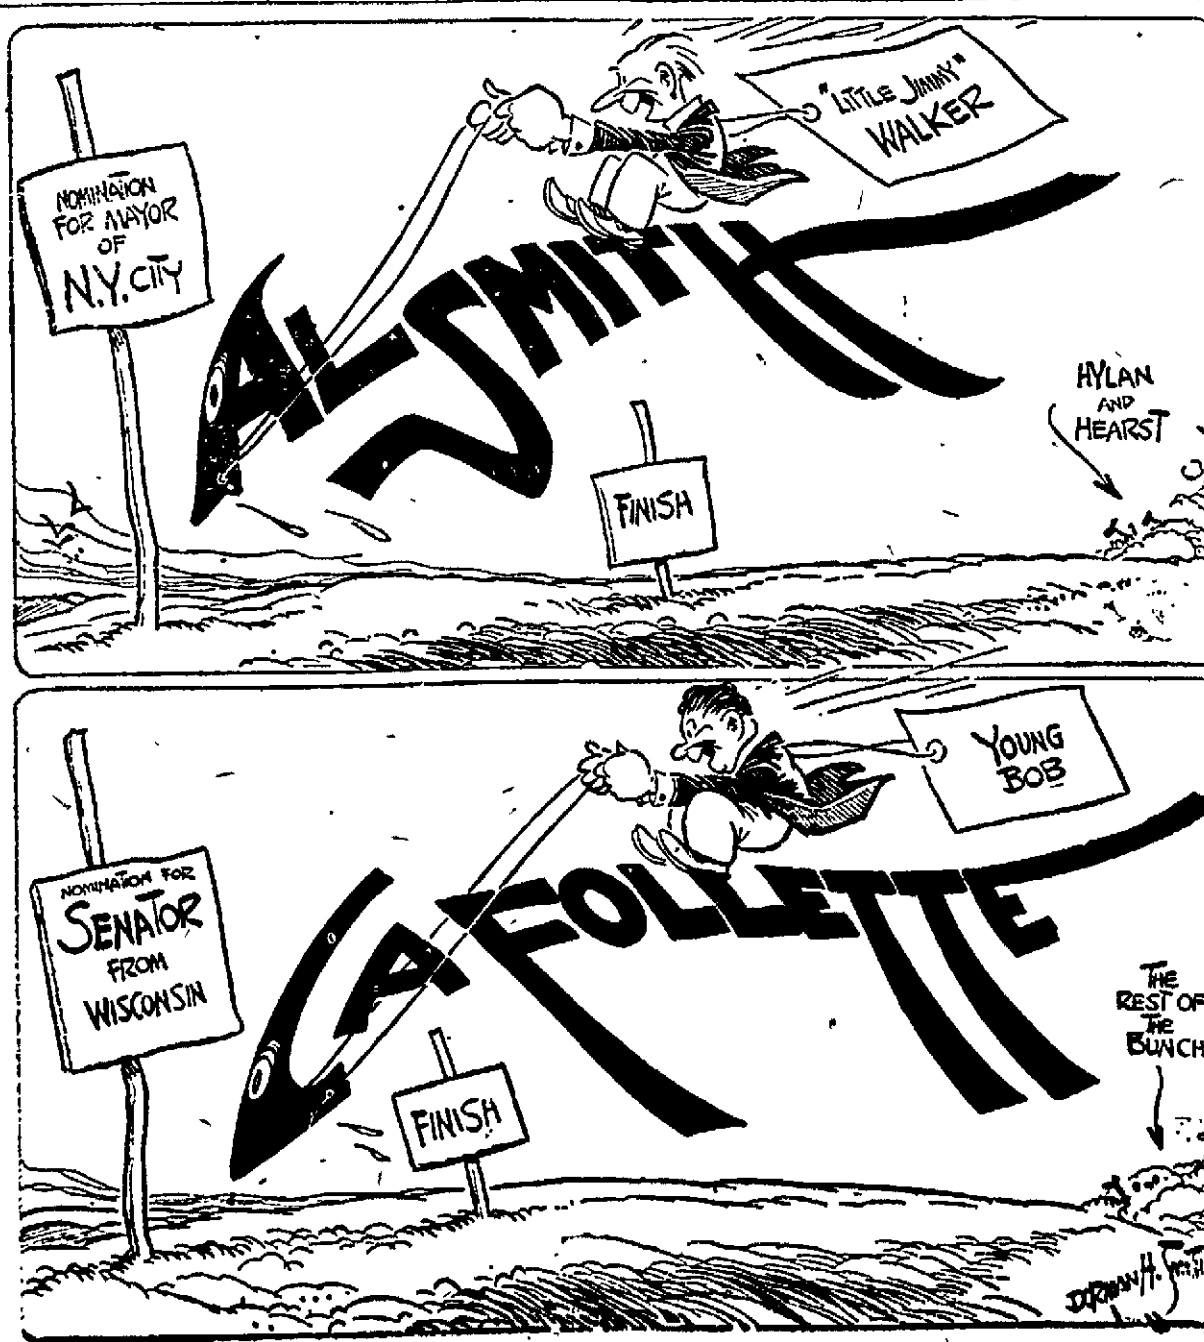

Q. What was the value of imported farm products for last year? B. S.

A. The United States last year imported about $425,000,000 worth of crude foodstuffs and food animals, exclusive of wool and cotton.

Q. When was the Victoria Cross instituted? H. W.

A. It dates from January 29, 1856.

LETTER FROM SYDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Received your paper of great joy this morning. I am very glad that you are happy, you consummate ass.

I wouldn't be too sure, however, if I were you that this happiness extended to the entire family of the Prescotts. I wonder if you for one moment, have dropped enough of your egoism to realize that your wife is literally fulfilling the scriptural injunction to forgive seven times; yea seventy times seven. I would just like to remind you that if you don't look out the seventy times seven will all be used up some day the woman that you say you have fallen in love with all over again. The sweetest woman on earth, will take her two babies and leave you high and dry upon the pinnacle of your colossal self-love.

If Leslie has forgiven you, and I am not sure yet that she has, it is not because she sees anything good in you—I being your closest and most intimate friend do not see how she could—but because she is trying in every way to make your marriage a success. Jack, no other woman on earth would forgive you as Leslie has forgiven you. No other woman would put up with your assinine idiosyncracies. No other woman would forgive you your thoughtlessness—a thoughtlessness so great that it becomes a heinous crime against your wife's devotion.

I remember you said to me that there was nothing in the world so impossibly unforgiving as a good woman, and now from your telegram I take it that the best woman in all the world has forgiven you and is trying once more to patch up her life and love.

I don't believe, Jack Prescott, that you have any appreciation of the woman you have married, a woman altogether too good for you, a woman that any man except your self would go down upon his knees before and worship in the holiest and most beautiful thing that had come within his ken.

Now let me give you a word of advice. Forget all that has gone before. Begin your life anew with Leslie, treat her as she deserves to be treated. Certainly she has enough variety with her splendid mind, her exquisitely beautiful face, and her wonderful soul, not only to enthrall but to keep you in love's vassalage forever.

SYDNEY.

Telegram from John Alden Prescott to Sydney Carton

Your letter received. Would just like to ask if you are in love with my wife? I would not blame you, but it would be slightly awkward, for I still want to retain you as my best friend.

JACK.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE LAST OF THE STORY MAN

"Would you like to go through my house?" asked Mi O' Mi. The Story Teller. "I have a lot of things to show you."

"Oh, yes indeed, thank you," said the Twins who were anxious to see everything before they went home.

So Mi O' Mi took them around from room to room, picking up this thing and that and telling a story about it.

The first thing he picked up was a sieve. "Here is the Witch's Sieve," said he. "Once there was a white cow that was really a fairy. She appeared in a village one winter when there was a famine."

"Each family may have one bucketful of milk and no more," said she.

"But one day her enemy, the witch, heard of it. So she came and brought a bucket with a sieve for a bottom. Then she sat down and milked and milked until the white cow was dry."

"Then the white cow disappeared and the witch too. But she forgot her bucket and I picked it up and here it is," said Mi O' Mi.

"Then what happened?" asked Nancy.

"Nothing," said the Story Teller. "But it shows how mean some people are. That old witch never touched milk in her life, but she wasn't going to let anyone else have any, either."

Then next thing Mi O' Mi picked up was a stone. "This has a story," said he. "A soldier was in prison in a foreign land. One day a bird came and sang to him, so he fed it. They became great friends. Every day the bird came to be fed, then he would sit on the window-sill outside the bars and sing his gratitude."

"One day the soldier said, 'Oh, little bird, if I could only be as free as you!'"

"Away flew the bird and when he came back he had this stone in his beak, which he dropped to the floor."

"The soldier picked it up and suddenly his chains fell away. Then he touched the door of his cell and it opened. As he passed his jailer the jailer bowed and let him pass out."

"The soldier later became rich, but he never forgot his bird friend. He built him a golden house in his garden and fed him on forty kinds of seed."

"How did you get the stone?" asked Nick.

"It gave it to me," said Mi O' Mi. "It is very magic, but I never use it, I think it is better to get things by our own efforts, unless we need help very much indeed."

He showed the Twins the pearl that Simple Jack had found in the mackerel he had foolishly bought for forty pounds; and he showed them the gold coins that Nureddin paid to the caliph for a handful of apples, supposing him to be a beggar.

There was also the hatchet that Jack chopped the beanstalk down with; and the comb the wicked queen sold to Snow White; the spinning wheel on which the Sleeping Beauty pricked her finger; and one of Red Riding Hood's shoes.

"Dear me!" said Nancy. "I never never was in such an interesting place. And you have been very kind to tell us so many stories. We have had a lovely time."

"Then you must come and see me again," said Mi O' Mi. "I know lots more stories. But I promised the Fairy Queen to send you back before it got late. And I must keep my word. Good-bye, children."

"Good-bye," said Nancy and Nick. And the magic shoes whisked them away over the tree-tops to their own house far, far away.

FARMHAND AT WAUPACA HELD FOR FORGERY

Youth's Spending Orgy With Employers' Checks Short Lived—Dismal Wants Trial

Waupaca—Forgery, an art that has been indulged in to the sorrow of many, resulted in the downfall and confinement in the county jail of William Merryfield who gives his home address as Mosinee, but has recently been in the employ of Floyd Jones, a tenant of the D. F. Burnham farm located on state highway No. 18, four miles east of Waupaca. It is said Merryfield obtained Mr. Jones' check book, then proceeded to the city where he passed checks at the Nelson shoe store, at Carl Bruun's store and at the Standard Oil company filling station. The amounts ranged from $10 to $15. Sheriff Toepeke said the signature was an excellent duplicate of the original by Mr. Jones. Officer Arthur Hewitt effected the arrest. It is thought also that some checks were issued by Merryfield at Stevens Point. Monday the prisoner was taken before Justice Peter Holst in district court where he was bound over to the full term of circuit court for trial. Bail set at $1,000 could not be supplied, and the defendant will wait in the county jail the remainder of the week.

Park at Stevens Point Saturday, where they entered a plea of guilty. ## Did You Know These Things About Oil Heating?

There are only four oil burners out of the 1700 on the market that you can possibly be considering. These four all sell for about the same price. If there is any doubt in your mind which to choose, read the facts below.

The more capital a manufacturer has, the better able he is to build in volume and to give you the benefit of his savings in better quality or lower price. OIL-O-MATIC is made by a million-dollar oil burner institution—by many times the largest in the world.

Highly successful products are made by successful concerns.

The OIL-O-MATIC factory, the largest in the industry, is a monument to the uninterrupted success of OIL-O-MATIC for nearly 7 years.

The fact that OIL-O-MATIC is operating successfully in more homes than any other oil burner is merely an indication of its merit.

But when OIL-O-MATIC dealers place orders for more burners in 65 minutes than any other concern sold all last year, there is little room for doubt about the kind of service OIL-O-MATIC gives.

"The house heating fuel of the future," say the Empire Refineries, "is going to be the heavier grades of fuel oil." It contains more heat units per gallon and costs on an average 1-3 less than kerosene or distillate.

The Underwriters' Laboratories, after exhaustive tests, proved that OIL-O-MATIC could use fuel oil as low as 28 degrees equally as well as any of the lighter grades. Thousands of OIL-O-MATIC owners are using fuel oil and saving as high as 25% over burners restricted to more expensive oils.

There are four natural laws of oil combustion, each as hard and fast as the law of gravitation. No oil burner can ever be made to work right if its principle is wrong.

OIL-O-MATIC was the first automatic oil burner built to operate according to these fundamental principles.

Continuous pilot lights, drip bucket shut-offs, pots inside the firebox, and crank handles on automobiles are all in the same class.

OIL-O-MATIC eliminated the needless waste of the pilot light 6 years ago. No part is inside the firebox to burn out. It is the only oil burner with the Williams Thermal Safety Control that makes the whole burner a single unit. Nothing can work unless everything is working right.

"No oil burner is any better than its installation," says E. J. Smith of the Underwriters' Laboratories. OIL-O-MATIC maintains the Williams Institute of Heat Research, the largest oil burning school. Over 1500 dealers, service and installation men have graduated from this national institution.

Once people learn what oil heat means, they never go back to coal even if they have to replace their burner with a better one.

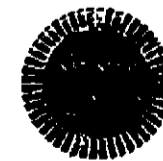

As many OIL-O-MATICS are being bought to replace other burners as the total sales of many oil burner companies.

Right now is the time to decide. We are working at top speed to complete all installations in time for cold weather. Every day you delay makes it that much harder to get your burner installed in time. See a demonstration today. Take a year to pay, beginning October first, if you wish.

17-YEAR-OLD YOUTH KILLED ON FARM IN DARBOY

BOY'S CLOTHING CAUGHT IN WHEEL OF FARM ENGINE

Brother Finds Mutilated Body of Youth Swung Around Flywheel of Gasoline Motor

Instantaneous death was meted out at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon to Benjamin Kortenhof, 17, of Darboy, when his clothing became caught in the belt of a gasoline engine. Nobody knows just how the accident happened, as the only person near at hand was his brother Joseph, who found him dead. Silo filling had been in progress at the farm of the young man's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kortenhof, half a mile from Darboy village. A gasoline engine was in use and the work had been suspended at 5 o'clock so the family could assemble for supper. Benjamin was still at the engine when Joseph Kortenhof started for the house. As the latter reached the steps he turned to see if his brother was coming and saw him prostrate beside the machine. He returned and saw the mutilated body.

An examination revealed that the youth's clothing had become tangled in the belt and that he appeared to have been carried around with the flywheel. Part of the organs of his stomach was torn out and many bones were broken.

The boy is survived by his parents, four brothers, John, Joseph and Stephen, Darboy; Henry, Milwaukee; three sisters, Mrs. Arthur Wittmann, Darboy; Mrs. William Balch, Appleton; Mrs. Roy Halla, Menasha. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 Thursday morning at Holy Angels church, Darboy, with the Rev. John Husslein in charge. The young man was a graduate of Holy Angels school and a member of Darboy branch, Catholic Knights of Wisconsin.

SEEK KIMBERLY MAN AS THIEF

Green Bay Police Suspect Ervin Poir of Taking Car from New London Man

The thief who stole a Lincoln touring car from E. H. Ramm, New London, Sunday night is believed to be Ervin Poir, Kimberly, formerly of Green Bay, according to information received from the Green Bay police department Tuesday.

The driver of the stolen machine made his escape after an exciting chase by county motorcycle police, during which a number of shots were fired at the escaping thief. One shot was thought to have punctured a rear tire.

Poir was intoxicated. It is alleged by the police, and was discovered by another car near a roadhouse earlier in the evening. He was ordered by Capt. Charles Glaw of the Brown-co motorcycle force not to attempt to drive the machine, and to insure this result Glaw parked the car behind the building and removed the distributor head.

Half an hour later the officer was following a Ford when the Lincoln crashed into it and sped away. The chase in which the driver escaped followed.

OIL HEATER STARTS FIRE AT HOPFENSBERGER PLANT

Flames starting from an oil heater at the Hopfensberger Bros. Meat market at 413-420 W. College-ave at 6:45 Monday evening were extinguished by the fire-department before damage was caused.

Working of painting a new refrigerator had been completed in the afternoon and a number of oil heaters placed about it to hasten the drying. One of the heaters ignited, but the flames were discovered before they had progressed far. No meat was in the refrigerator.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Mostly overcast tonight and Wednesday; probably showers in southeast and extreme northeast portions; warmer in northwest portion Wednesday.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
High pressure overlies the northern states from the Rocky mountains to the St. Lawrence valley, with temperatures below the seasonal normal. The pressure is lower in the southern states, with temperatures about normal, and rains have fallen along the line of conflict of temperatures. The high pressure is expected to predominate in this section tonight and Wednesday, with generally fair weather and the temperature rising very slowly.

LEVEL OF LAKE LOWER THAN IN MANY YEARS

In spite of several recent rains, people who live along the north shore of Lake Winnebago report that the water is lower in the lake than it has been in years. The many sand bars which extend out from the beach for about two blocks are now protruding above the water in many places. Opening of sluice gates at Neenah to let more water into the Fox river is the reason for the exceptional low water mark in the lake, it is said.

DADS AND SONS SIT TOGETHER AT GAMEL LECTURE

Boy Expert Will Give Third Lecture of Series at Vocational School Wednesday Evening

Fathers and sons have been requested to sit side by side at the third of the lectures by Frank H. Gamel, on the "The Balance Sheet," which will be given at the vocational school auditorium at 7:30 Wednesday evening. The talk is for men and boys only. Special invitations were issued to fathers and sons of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and other neighboring towns and cities to attend the meeting which is one of the most important of Mr. Gamel's visit.

Wednesday evening's talk is made up of materials culled from books, from conferences with expert workers with boys, and from close-up confidential interviews with thousands of boys and hundreds of fathers. It endeavors to bring about a closer relationship between fathers and sons.

DE PERE PLANT WRECKED BY FIRE

Blaze Causing $100,000 Loss Starts in Paint Shop — 64 Men Thrown Out of Work

De Pere—Fire, which the management estimates caused a loss of $100,000, virtually ruined the plant of the Hudson Manufacturing company, on Main-st., West De Pere Monday morning. The loss is fully covered by insurance, it is said.

The plant, in which farm equipment and farm implements are manufactured, will be idle for an indefinite period, and 64 men will be out of employment as a result of the disastrous fire.

The fire started about 5:30 o'clock in the paint shop while workmen were engaged in dipping castings. The castings are warm, and it is believed came in contact with some inflammable material. From the paint shop, which is located in the southwest corner on the main floor of the building, the flames spread rapidly to the main manufacturing section of the structure, and by the time the fire department arrived the building was seething with fire. Three streams of water were thrown into the burning building, and for about two hours the firemen aided by employees of the company, fought the raging flames.

INVITE MECHANICS TO JOIN NEW NIGHT CLASS

Anyone interested may enroll at the school any evening this week except Saturday. Correspondence school students who would like supervision in their mathematics or drawing courses also are eligible.

TICKET SELLERS MEET TO REPORT ON PROGRESS

There is to be a meeting at 7:30 Tuesday evening at the Conway hotel of captains of teams and members of the American Legion auxiliary who are selling tickets for the auxiliary artist series. Each captain is advised by Mrs. E. E. Dunn, chairman, to be prepared to make a full report on the sale of tickets. Those who wish to purchase tickets may obtain them by telephoning Mrs. Phillip Miller, at 312. Reservations of tickets will start at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Bellinger drugstore.

GAMEL HELPS PLAN HIS PROGRAM FOR NEXT WEEK

A meeting of the boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A., sponsor of the 2-weeks campaign of Frank H. Gamel, famous boyology expert, now underway in Appleton, will be held Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. to plan the remainder of the program. Mr. Gamel will meet with the group and will help make arrangements for the program for most of next week. The program touches on:

DON'T LET YOUR BOY DOUBT YOU, GAMEL'S WARNING

Noted Boy Expert Cautions Parents to Direct Youngsters in Proper Paths of Life

Stories which parents tell their boys about the stork bringing the baby sister, about Santa Claus coming at Christmas time or the Easter rabbit bringing the colored eggs are dangerous rocks which may cause the shipwreck of the youngster's faith, Frank H. Gamel told an audience of more than 100 at the opening formal dinner of the chamber of commerce at Hotel Appleton Monday evening.

"The moment in which any boy first learns to doubt his father or mother is the moment which may prove a tragedy in the life of every youngster," he declared. "His faith in you is a treasure of such value that it is worth holding at any price."

Mr. Gamel impressed his audience profoundly as he described pitfalls which parents should avoid in rearing their sons. His subject was Making a Man of Your Boy and he warned the fathers and mothers that the old-fashioned spanking often is wrongly administered. It is not expression but direction that the youngster needs, for genius is simply transformed mischief.

HELL ASK SOMEBODY
That father whose son asks questions of him instead of being dismissed and forced to go to somebody who may poison his mind, is a happy dad, cautioned the speaker. The adolescent boy will pattern after his father or somebody else and the dad is endeavoring to choose a father in whom is a good example. The boy hungers for a companion at play and the man whose business and boy both take his time should weigh carefully which he will choose.

This was the third of the talks which Mr. Gamel, noted boyology expert, is giving during a two-weeks stay here under auspices of the Y. M. C. A. His message so stirred his hearers that a rising vote voiced a demand for its repetition at a public meeting at Lawrence Memorial chapel next Sunday night. Ben J. Ryan, chairman of the forum committee, presided at the meeting and announced the series of forum programs for the winter. The singing was led by Dr. Earl L. Baker, accompanied by Miss Irene Bidwell. Dr. Ryan's Scott offered the invocation.

Mr. Gamel used a chart as the basis of his talk, saying it represents the couple of the average boy's development from birth to the time he becomes an adult. "Life is a half of a circle, in which father walks just a little ahead of the boy," he remarked. "They must walk very closely together if they are to learn the meaning of life."

Referring to the restlessness of the child, he declared that genius is simply transformed mischief. A good deal of the man he is to become may be made out of the parts of boys which the parents or teachers are trying to suppress. Our job is to direct the mind and will that he will want the things he ought to want and to direct his energies that he will get the things he wants.

SPANKING NOT THE REMEDY
"Too often the boy gets spanked because he annoyed somebody bigger than he, rather than because he did some wrong," exclaimed Mr. Gamel. "The only thing a boy learns from getting spanked is that big people can strike smaller ones and get away with it. The tremendous activity of the little fellow is an expression of the driving power he is going to have in business some day. Remember that it is direction, not repression that we must give our boys."

Curiosity and the million questions the little fellow asks his dad are the widest open gateway to the human soul, the speaker explained. The final test of the teacher of a boy is to kindle and develop that perfectly natural trait in him. It is merely the appetite of his mind and it should not be curbed. The day will come when he will ask grave questions, and a parent whose boy has been trained to come to him will be the one to answer, not somebody who may poison his mind.

CHARACTER IS CAUGHT
Declaring that character is caught not taught—that it is contagion not persuasion, Mr. Gamel pointed out that boys will do whatever their sense of imitation tells them is the thing that will make them men. The boy of 13 will smoke, chew, cuss and drink no matter how sick he gets if he thinks he is being a man. For these and other reasons fathers were urged to be the models of living if they wanted their sons to do likewise.

Desire of the youngster for fun is one of the father's biggest opportunities. "The boy can't play to advantage alone," the speaker said. "His heart is widest open to the one who shares his play. I know it takes time to build a business and the same is true of boyhood. No matter where I go boys come to me with the plea that they are hungry for the closer companionship of their dads. Give it to them. If you haven't time to attend to the business and the boy both decide carefully which is the most important."

NEEDS DAD AS GUIDE
In every boy there is an appetite or desire to get at the heart of things. Mr. Gamel went on. In early years this is covered up by his credulity, his belief that whatever dad or mother tells him is honest. It is here that the stories of the stork, Santa Claus and the Easter rabbit become the rocks of shipwreck. The boy reaches the "faith" point where he puts these things to the test. He is at the point of transition from boy to man. The road is a difficult one with jagged rocks and he may be marred so the beauty is despoiled from his whole life.

"Be very careful at that point," said Mr. Gamel. "The father's failure as a guide at such a point may send him over the precipice while he is tearing at the hearings of his parents."

It is a waste of time to try to break a boy's will, the listeners were told. The boy hates to be over-ruled when he is at the age where he begins to be conscious of judgment but doesn't know how to use it. The proper way is to tell him why the parent's decision is made; to help him revise his will and use it as his own so he can develop it. It is better to have the boy make mistakes while he is clanking the parents than when he is the adult and out into manhood.

"Remember, too," said Mr. Gamel in closing, "that no habit was ever formed by compulsion. They are bundles of ideals closely bound. This business of building boyhood is the most glorious I know of and you can plainly see why I am in no other."

SUFFERED AFTER BIRTH OF BABY

Trouble Caused by Getting Up Too Soon. Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Taleville, New York. — "I thought it would interest you to know what benefit I have derived from taking your medicine. A few days after the birth of my third child I got up too quick. Then just before my fifth child was born I had inflammation of the bladder and displacement. Seeing your advertisement in a Liverpool (England) paper I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and that was the best confinement I had. Whenever I feel run down I always take the Vegetable Compound as a tonic. We have just removed from Brockville (Canada) so I was pleased when the store ordered the medicine for me and I got it today. I would not be without it for any price and I recommend it to ladies around here because I feel so sure it will benefit any woman who takes it." — Mrs. AGNES WIGNALL, Taleville, New York.

Women can depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve them from all peculiar to their sex. For sale by druggists everywhere.

THREE PHOTOGRAPHERS ATTEND STATE MEETING

E. H. Harwood, W. T. Ross, and Joseph Froelich are in Fond du Lac attending the annual convention of the Photographers Association of Wisconsin which opens Tuesday and closes Thursday. An exhibit of three photographs from each studio of the state association is a feature of the meeting. Exhibits by manufacturers of photographic supplies also will occupy a prominent place at the convention. The Fond du Lac meeting is the third which the association has held outside of Milwaukee. In 1910 the convention was in Appleton, and last year Madison was the meeting place.

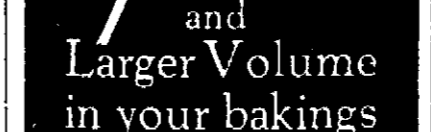

Whole milk, 80% and consumed in the United States last year was valued at $1,714,000,000, a decrease of about $40,000,000 from the year before.

MAX DIDN'T GET MUCH PLEASURE OUT OF HIS CAR

Max Koenigseder, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Koenigseder, 712 W. Lorraine-st., bought a car Sunday, enjoyed two rides in it and returned home from work Monday evening to find his machine partially destroyed by fire. The top and cushions are completely ruined, and considerable damage was done to the body. Now Max is debating whether he should keep his newly purchased machine. The cause of the fire is not known, although spontaneous combustion from oily rags left in the rear seat may have started the flames. Smoke issuing from the garage at the rear of his home Monday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock was discovered by one of the neighbors. He notified Mrs. Koenigseder, and together they managed to push the car out of the garage before any damage had been done to the building.

In the meantime the fire department had arrived on the scene and chemicals soon put out the flames. No damage was done to the garage. The loss, is not great, however, as Max's newly purchased car was a second hand Ford touring car. Now he is glad he didn't buy a brand new machine.

POTATO GROWERS FACING BEST PROFIT IN YEARS

LOADING BEGINS EARLY AT TWICE PRICES OF 1924

Wisconsin Crop 8,000,000
Bushels Below Last Year—
Prices $1.40 to $1.75

Special to Post-Crescent.
Waupaca—According to the latest crop estimate for white potatoes in the entire United States, conditions are off 25 per cent as compared to the same period last year. The total estimate for the entire country on Sept. 1 was 34,521,000 bushels, and a year ago it was 45,784,000 bushels, making a decrease of 11,263,000 bushels.

For Wisconsin the crop estimate a year ago 21,460,000 bushels; a difference of nearly 8,000,000 bushels. At this period of growth no material increase in production can be effected in the final figures as to maximum yield. However, a number of things can occur to influence those figures to a lower mark, such as an early severe frost, which would hasten maturity without any further growth. A hard freeze at digging time could also curtail the yield and overabundance of rain from now on would have a tendency to cause rot and other disturbances.

Waupaca farmers have marketed more of their product to date than in many years. This is due chiefly to the fact a larger per cent of the crop was planted earlier than usual and also to market conditions at this time of the season. Shippers in some instances started to purchase the potatoes as early as the latter part of August. The price during the entire time has ranged from $1.40 to $1.75 a hundred pounds. At present it is quoted mostly at $1.50, with a few a little higher. As the main part of the crop is not harvested until after Oct. 1, the price question will not enter into serious consideration with the potato growers. Generally what stock is dug up until that time is immediately disposed of by the dealers and does not go into storage. A great deal depends upon the condition and quality of the stock during the time of the harvest of the bulk the crop as to whether much goes into storage. Market conditions also have a marked effect on the same question.

Prices are also influenced through the same conditions. To gauge the market it is necessary that all facts and figures be true so far as the information is concerned. To date this year the situation sums up in the following manner: With a crop which is 25 per cent less in volume, and the present price is a hundred per cent greater. It is, however, too early to make any conservative estimate of what the Wisconsin farmer will get for his crop, but it is safe to say he will not more than in several years.

URGE BIG CROWD AT WIECKERT'S

Meating and Rohan Will Discuss School Question at Rural Community Supper

Walter Wieckert's farm nine miles north of Appleton on Mackville road will be one of the busiest places in Outagamie-co Wednesday night of this week when the city and rural community meeting is held there under auspices of Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

The invitation has been spread broadcast urging the farmers to be present to hear an interesting discussion on the school question. The speakers are to be A. G. Meating and Ben J. Rohan, county and city school superintendents, respectively. They will deal with educational matters that are of considerable interest at this time.

Each farmer is asked to bring his family and the same is true of the Appleton persons who will attend. Basket suppers are to be brought on tables and served in "help yourself" style. Those who drive out from Appleton are to start from the chamber of commerce office at 6:30. Some may not have cars and those having extra room therefore will be asked to take one or two persons more. The supper is to be served at 7 o'clock, giving farmers more time in which to reach the place after chores are done.

Meetings were not held during the summer because the farmers were too busy but a demand for the gatherings has been made because they were so interesting and valuable before.

USE FRUIT SURPLUS FOR POTASH FERTILIZER

San Francisco—The surplus fruit and cannery waste from California's fruit orchards are to be converted into potash fertilizer.

John Mason, head of a fruit by-products company, says that not only thousands of tons of bitter-sour fruit be used, but fertilizer will be sold to farmers at a lower price than the fertilizer now on the market.

"By our new process of getting the residue from fruits back into a solid state and then atomizing it we can put back into the ground everything that nature has taken out of it to grow the fruit," Mason explains.

GAUGE IS DESIGNED TO TEST RIPENESS OF APPLES

TESTING RIPENESS OF AN APPLE WITH THE PHESSURE-TESTER.

Washington — A "pressure tester," used much like a tire gauge, has been designed to tell more exactly than heretofore when apples are ripe.

The pressure tester is so constructed that when its plunger penetrates the flesh of an apple the amount of pressure required is measured on a graduated scale and the full extent indicated by an electric flashlight. The plunger is of a given size and penetrates to a given depth, at which time, as indicated by the flashing of the light, the amount of pressure required is read.

Different varieties of apples withstand a different pressure when ready for picking. Northern apples differ in amount of pressure from the same variety grown in the south.

A great deal of laboratory work is being done to set up pressure or maturity standards for the various kinds of apples, pears, plums, peaches and other fruits, as determined by the length of time they will keep in storage.

For instance, it has been found that apples of the McIntosh variety should be picked when they test a firmness of 15 to 19 pounds, but Yellow Newtons should be picked when they test 20 to 25 pounds pressure. Thus the fruit grower equipped with a pressure tester has a reliable guide to tell him just when to pick his apples.

$300,000 Annual State Loss From Hog Cholera

Hog cholera robbed Wisconsin farmers of 22,774 hogs in the year ending May 1, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. This means that 17 out of each thousand hogs on the farms of this state were sacrificed to this disease and, at $13 the head, took $226,082 out of the pockets of their owners.

Compared to the year before, however, the losses from this dread disease are somewhat lower. The number of hogs claimed by this malady for 1923 was 37,260, or at the rate of 21.8 hogs out of each thousand, a better showing than the average for the United States which is 30.8 out of a thousand hogs or a total of 1,674,746 for the country. This is the new low record touched last year compared to the 40 to 50 per thousand that was considered usual before. In the epidemic of 1914 the death rate reached 106 per thousand and in the severe outbreak which reached its peak in 1907 the rate was 130 per thousand with the industry practically wiped out in some sections. The total loss sustained in the country last year was somewhat above $20,000,000 as compared to $65,000,000 in one previous single year and an average annual loss for the past forty years of not less than $30,000,000.

Despite the excellent record of last year Wisconsin farmers are urged by the institute to take all possible precautions and to be constantly on the alert to prevent infection of their hogs. Greater precaution at the yards and the wide use of protective serums will tend toward improvement in the future as they were effective last year. Once the disease is discovered in a herd, serum treatments should be immediately applied, and the hogs kept on a light diet in sanitary quarters with a plentiful supply of pure drinking water on hand. Hogs having a temperature of 104 in ordinary weather should be given an increased dose of the serum. Also, the premises should be rid of all piles, litter and rubbish, wallow holes, and old straw stacks out of the reach of the hogs. Walls, floors and all surfaces should be sprayed with disinfectant and where possible the interior of hog houses exposed to the sunlight. Hogs that do not fully recover should be destroyed for they may be carriers of the infection.

NEARING FINISH OF VAST HARVEST

Oats Are Averaging 60 Bushels to Acre Here—Other Crops Are Setting Record

Outagamie-co farmers will practically all have their barns and silos filled with the season's harvest in less than a week according to Robert A. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. Most farmers have finished threshing their oats and barley and are now filling their silos with corn fodder.

The present season, with its ideal growing crop ever harvested in years in Outagamie-co, Mr. Amundson said. There are few farms where the yield of oats from one acre has been as heavy as 100 bushels. The average oat yield in the county this summer was 60 bushels to the acre. Last year the average yield of oats was only 3 or 40 bushels to the acre. This year barley yield averages about 50 bushels to the acre. There is scarcely an wheat grown in this part of Wisconsin in recent years, according to Mr. Amundson, and, so, there are no accurate figures available for the yield per acre of this grain.

FOX VALLEY'S BARLEY MAKES STATE RECORD

Corn Is Proving Big Crop in Many Sections—Cabbage Yield Is Average One

Madison — (P) — Record yields of oats and barley, prospects of a big corn crop and drouth damage to pastures and hay crops were conditions in Wisconsin on Sept. 1 as reported to Paul O. Nyhus, federal-state agricultural statistician.

The hot, dry weather somewhat lowered the quality of corn, but hurried ripening and lessened the damage from early frosts. Mr. Nyhus stated. The comment is general in southwestern and eastern Wisconsin. A group of a dozen counties about Dunn and Barron were damaged by the drouth and hot drying winds. In that section many immature fields had begun to burn. In the entire northern half of the state corn on lighter soils or high lands began to dry up prematurely and silo filling was general. The state condition of 92 per cent for corn is 19 points above the 5-year average. Other conditions were summarized as follows:

GOOD THRESHING WEATHER

August weather in most of the state was ideal for shock threshing which was finished at an early date. Yields proved better than was expected and good to bumper crops of both oats and barley are general. A state yield of 48 bushels of oats is reported, this being the largest on in the eastern part of the state run record for Wisconsin. County yields in the eastern part of the state run as high as 62 bushels. The Wisconsin crop is about 20 per cent larger and the United States crop 5 per cent smaller than last year.

Barley yield of 35 bushels is among the best yields on record for the state. County yields are as high as 45 bushels in the Fox river valley. Together with a larger acreage sown this spring, the Wisconsin crop is about 20 per cent larger and the United States crop 20 per cent larger than last year. It is apparent that the livestock industry in Wisconsin is fortunately situated with large supplies of feed grains.

Excepting in southwestern Wisconsin, pastures had dried up and come to be poor by Sept. 1. In northwestern Wisconsin they were brown as early as Aug. 20. Meadows in that region had made but a short growth and "second cuttings" of hay were practically a failure. The low condition of 70 per cent was reported on Sept. 1. Recent rains brought a quick improvement and fall pastures will be greatly benefited.

BUCKWHEAT LOW

Much of the buckwheat acreage of the state was in blossom or filling when the drouth was most severe. The condition of 80 per cent is low considering the early promise.

Heavy yields of white and alsike clover seed are general in eastern Wisconsin. Medium red clover has made a good seed crop in most sections but there are many late fields where the yield is still uncertain.

Soup beans in the Calumet section of the state made yields of 22 bushels of excellent quality. The yield prospect of dry beans in central Wisconsin was considerably reduced by drouth.

Sugar beets in eastern Wisconsin are in condition to make good yields. Cabbage in Racine and Outagamie commercial district is making above average yields from early varieties, and the promise is likewise good for late varieties.

WARN FARMERS NOT TO EXPAND MUCH IN 1926

High Prices This Year May Cause Rush of Production and Consequent Drop Again

Danger of too rapid expansion of crop and livestock production because of higher prices this year is pointed out by the department of agriculture in its September report on the agricultural situation.

"Insofar as present price levels mean income for this season's products, they represent a real bird in the hand," the department says. "Insofar as they merely serve to beckon producers into a still larger acreage of wheat, cotton, corn, potatoes, more hogs, cattle and sheep for 1926, they represent a dubious substitution of promise for fulfillment."

Higher prices, the department points out, have been due to poor yields rather than to increased consumptive demand. The spring wheat forecast, for example, is around 260,000,000 bushels against 232,000,000 bushels a year ago, despite the fact that acreage was increased 19 per cent over last year.

"The domestic wheat situation is a rather tight one," the department says. "There appears to be little wheat to spare for export east of the Rocky Mountains. The country price of wheat has been running around 30 cents above last year and is evidently high enough to stimulate production.

"Barring an early frost, corn will apparently turn out around 3,000,000,000 bushels, which is a fair, average crop. It was hurt by dry weather in portions of the corn belt as well as in the southwest, and the general yield per acre appears likely to be slightly below average. The corn situation is well balanced. There is grain enough to feed, yet the price is remunerative to producers. Corn, like wheat, now has a purchasing power per bushel somewhat higher than in prewar times.

"Back of the feed grain markets looms a slowly growing strength in the livestock situation. That there will be an increasing demand this fall for feeder stock of all classes is the opinion of well informed men; current shipments of stock toward the feed lots appear to foreshadow such development. The livestock industry, in

LATE HATCHED CHICKS SELDOM PROFITABLE

Lincoln, Neb.—Late hatching seldom pays, reports the agricultural general, is heading slowly back toward a program of heavier production." The improvement in the financial position of farmers is shown by the department's price index which places the purchasing power of 30 farm products combined, in terms of non-agricultural commodities, at 91 compared with a five-year perwar level of 100.

college of the University of Nebraska. Late hatched pullets in the flock next winter are a menace to the health of the flock and a hindrance to its productivity.

Unless extraordinary environment conditions prevail, the report specifies, no chicks should be hatched later than the middle of June.

The FLAPPER WIFE

By Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

Miss Briggs stood up then, and faced Gloria.

The flush in her cheeks had gone, and her eyes were the cold blue of a Polar lake.

"What right have you to say such a thing to me?" she asked.

Gloria's laugh was taunting. "Well, it's the truth, isn't it? You are in love with Dick, aren't you?" she said.

She could see Miss Briggs' breast heave under her plain blue dress.

"What if I am?" she asked. "I'd never let him know it! It wouldn't hurt anyone."

She seemed to be lost in thought for a moment. Then her eyes flashed with spirit.

"I am in love with him—you may as well know it," she cried. "I do care about him!"

Gloria wouldn't have believed that such a tone could have been wrung from the sedate and proper Miss Briggs. It was vibrant with tenderness.

"I do love him!" she said, again, as if it gave her a certain fierce satisfaction to say the words she had been waiting to say for years.

Gloria blinked with surprise. She couldn't imagine Miss Briggs telling her secret to the wife of the very man she loved.

"These must be something like the words of a girl who loves him. And she knew it, and didn't care who else knew it!"

"And Dick?—is he in love with you?" Gloria asked. "Does he make love to you down here in this office when you're alone with him all day?"

A queer expression of disgust went over Miss Briggs' white face.

"Oh, no!" she said. "I wouldn't care for him if he were that kind of a man!"

"I'm just the woman who works for him. And I'm contented to be just that—for him."

The whole spirit of her love for him was in the words. They filled Gloria with pity for her.

"Miss Briggs," she said. "I'm truly sorry for you. . . . You'd rather hoped to marry Dick all those years when he was a bachelor, hadn't you?"

Miss Briggs smiled a wry little smile that twisted her mouth up at one corner.

"I suppose I had, without quite knowing it," she said. "Oh, let's stop talking about it. . . . You'll never speak of it to Mr. Gregory, will you? Please. I'd die of shame!"

"We-el, I'm not so sure you ought to go on working for him, feeling about him as you do," Gloria answered. "Do you think you should, yourself?"

Miss Briggs looked at her long and gravely. She could scarcely believe that, in her moment of weakness, she had told Dick's wife that she loved him.

"I've felt that way for a good many years. . . . and it hasn't done anyone any harm," she said, miserably.

"It has done you harm," Gloria told her. "If it hadn't been for Dick, you'd probably have married long ago."

"Oh, no!" Miss Briggs cried. "You see, this was my first job. Mr. Gregory's been my whole life for years. I couldn't have thought of marrying."

"That's just it," said Gloria. "If a girl happens to work for a young, good-looking man, she's so likely to fall in love with him! She's the sort of a day-time wife to him, looking after his comfort, reminding him of his engagements, keeping his pencils sharpened. . . . Oh, I know! I used to be a stenographer, myself, you know."

"And were you in love with the man you worked for?"

"Heavens, no! You should have seen him! Old as Methuselah, and crosser than two sticks!" Gloria answered. "Well, I guess I'd better be going—tell Dick I stopped in to see him, will you?"

Miss Briggs nodded, dumbly. She looked as if she wanted to say something else. But before she could frame the words, Gloria was gone.

She sat quietly at her desk when the sound of Gloria's high heels had died away down the corridor. All around her was a blankness that left her brain naked to outward impressions. . . . the loud ticking of a clock in Dick's private office, the clanging sound of the elevator outside the door.

"I shouldn't have told her," she thought at last. "How did I happen to tell her. . . . of all people? I must be losing my mind."

She got up and walked, in her small dignity, to the clothes rack, and took down her hat.

She closed her desk, and went out of the office. She knew she couldn't face Dick that day.

But she faced the world with a high bravery. She smiled at the elevator boy, and told him it was a joy to play hooky for once.

From sheer habit, she bought a paper.

She wondered if she would ever enjoy anything again. Her heart was breaking. And her pride was broken, too.

"I suppose I'll lose my job," she thought dully. "She's sure to tell Mr. Gregory. She'll make him discharge me, sure as death."

It was characteristic of Susan Briggs that she never thought of the man she loved except as "Mr. Gregory." She never had.

As Gloria went up the front steps of her house, the mother of the Don berg twins came across her front lawn toward her.

"There was a policeman at your house a while ago," she said, pleasantly. "What crime have you been committing?"

She carried her mending basket in her hands. Gloria could see that she was primed for a neighborly chat. But she didn't want to be neighborly with Mrs. Donberg. She was the type of woman for whom Gloria had no use. . . . the home body who talked of nothing but marmalade, marketing, and moth-marbles.

"We had burglars last night," Gloria said, without a smile. "And I've been so excited all day that I haven't done a bit of housework. I've got to get busy now and do it before my husband comes home."

She went into the house, and closed the door behind her.

There was a musty smell in the room. The house needed a thorough airing, as well as a good cleaning.

Gloria threw the windows wide open and went upstairs. She took off her hat and went to work.

All the soiled linen came off the beds. She made them up fresh and smooth. She hung a neat row of towels in the bathroom, and scoured the tub.

She began to enjoy her job. It was rather fun to dash around from room to room hanging the ashes from the tray on Dick's bedside table, slapping up the pillows on the window seat in the room where Dick had banished her.

Well, she wouldn't stay in banishment much longer. Gloria banded up her mind.

She would show Dick that she really did mean to be a good wife to him. . . . and he would take her back into his heart, again.

It was perfectly all right for them to live apart this way, under the same roof, and unnatural, besides.

"And if Dick ever brings up Stan Wayburn again, I'll accuse him of being in love with Miss Briggs," Gloria said to herself. "I'll tell him she would never have fallen for him if he hadn't made love to her, first. That'll shut him up, quick enough!"

The more she thought about Miss Briggs the more firmly Gloria decided to tell Dick he'd have to send her packing. To have a secretary around who was in love with Dick was just throwing temptation in his way. . . . Few men could resist a woman who was crazy about them. She appealed to their love of flattery.

And no man was deaf and blind to flattery. . . . not even the level-headed Dick. Yes, he'd have to get rid of Miss Briggs. That was all there was to it. . . .

E. W. LEAGUE TO START HOME TALENT BASKETBALL

Sponsors Of Home Player Idea On Diamond To Work For Amateur Caging Loop

Same Teams, Same Rules for Court Circuit; Appleton Legion Squad to Enter

The first home talent basketball league in the United States may become a reality this winter and the loop will be organized right in this section of Wisconsin if plans of managers of the Eastern Wisconsin basketball league, led by secretary C. L. Prefontaine of Fond du Lac, go through. The league will be made up of practically the same teams as the Eastern Wisconsin home talent baseball organization and will be governed by practically the same rules for players.

APPLETON TO ENTER
C. O. Baetz, manager of the Appleton team in the baseball loop and athletic officer of the local American Legion post, announced that a team representing the Legion would enter from Appleton. Baetz probably will manage the squad. All of the players in the new basketball league must be "home" boys as was the case during the season. No high priced stars will be imported. Cities which have asked for franchises in the new loop are Plymouth, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Two Rivers, Manitowoc and Chilton-Kiel. Six teams will be selected out of the list of applications and members of the baseball loop will have first call when it comes to the cage league. The organization meeting will be held soon after the close of the baseball season.

TWO GAMES A WEEK
Under the plan outlined by Mr. Prefontaine, each club in the loop will play two games a week, one at home and one on the road, giving the fans in each city one game at home a week. Admission prices will be low the same as during the baseball season. Frank Steckbauer will manage the Oshkosh team, the Neenah crew will play under the American Legion colors and the Fond du Lac squad will represent the Moose lodge.

Fond du Lac—Pete Lepine, former Company E star in the days of Fogarty, will coach and manage the Fond du Lac team. Lepine states that he has ten local basketball players practically signed up for the squad.

All the games in the new home talent league will be played at the Moose hall. The ceiling lights will be rearranged and other minor changes made in the auditorium to adapt it to the use as an ideal basketball court. There will be dancing after all the games and the Moose band will be revived to furnish the music.

RETURN OF VETS HELP BIG TEAMS

Illinois Regains Big Bernie Shively, 210-pound Regular Tackle of 1924

Chicago—(P)—The return of veterans and coaches to football practice are stimulating hopes in Midwest schools as preparations swing into the second week.

Prospects for a strong Illinois line, behind which the All-American, Red Grange can perform, are brightened with the reporting of Bernie Shively, veteran 210-pound tackle for scrimmage. His return had not been expected.

The Gophers are cheered by the first appearance of Herb Jostling, last year's freshman backfield star, and Clarence Iles of Cleveland, a linebacker. Ray Danbert veteran halfback who has been out with a sprained ankle, is back in scrimmage at Iowa.

Prudue's practice formations are centering about George Spradling. Minor injuries are bringing temporary stumps to grid stock at Michigan and Chicago. The Donohoff likely Wolverine quarter, has a twisted knee and Hestern, halfback, is nursing an injured leg.

Indiana's minor casualties are not holding back its snappy sessions in the first football weather since work-outs began.

Though this is Coach Wiley's thirteenth year at Ohio, he started with season with regulars his squad has no disabilities. The faults of the regulars as demonstrated in action against the scrubs are getting coach Little's attention at Wisconsin. First scrimmage have left all the likeliest candidates unscathed. Shorter practice hours because of classes, but more intensive work, is the order of the day.

Speed is lacking in scrimmage at Notre Dame.

MANITOWOC HURLER GETS SAINT TRYOUT

Manitowoc—Joe Vnuk, youthful twirler of the Manitowoc Shipbuilding Company team, will be given a tryout with the St. Paul American Association club next year. The St. Paul management board head of the local boy through Dr. Steckbauer of this city, whose brother is a scout for the Saints. The doctor witnessed Vnuk in action at Oshkosh several weeks ago and was impressed with him. Scout Steckbauer is expected to

HENDRICKS HITS TOUGH BIRD IN JOHNNIE BUSCH

Kaukauna Fans Will See Favorite in Action in Real Test
of His Ring Ability

Washie Hendricks, pride of Kaukauna, who meets one of the toughest opponents who has ever attempted to "stop his clock," in the opening bout of the big double window card of the Appleton Athletic club's first boxing show here Thursday night, is putting in plenty of hard work for his big chance to make good. The Kaukauna youth meets Johnnie Busch of Sheboygan, one of the best fighters in this section of the state and supposed to be as hard as the wood in the chairs for which his home city is named. The Chair city youth should make Washie go all the way.

WASHIE HARD BATTLER
The Kaukauna flash put in some mighty good scraps over in the last two years and a large crowd of Electric city fans will follow their favorite to Appleton for the bout and whoop her up for a Hendricks win. The local club has a hard time selecting an opponent for Washie because of his reach and height compared with his weight and also the desire to make the opening bout of the evening a real scrap as in a class with the others on the snappy card. Finally Busch known to Sheboygan fans as Little John, was hooked to a contract. The boy is as tall as Washie and about the same weight so that fans are assured of a real test. Sheboygan fans will back their boy to the limit so that there is sure to be a good exchange of coin of the realm between the fair cities of Kaukauna and Sheboygan after the bout. Local fans remember Washie's last work in this city when he gave Battling Beck, a game kid from Oshkosh, a neat trimming and later did it again at the Sawdust city and many of them also can be expected to back Washie.

IS NEW FIGHT CLUB
The Appleton Athletic club, the group handling the local matches this fall, composed of Appleton business men, who intend to see that the sport flourishes in a clean way as it should in a city the size of Appleton. None of the men were ever connected with any other local boxing group. Tickets for the card are going fast but many good seats still remain on sale at all of the stores handling the sale, according to reports. Kahn, Blumenthal, Grunjeck and Klein are expected to arrive in Appleton Wednesday and they probably their headquarters at the Elk club.

BUCS ARE ONLY 3 TILTS FROM FLAG

Miller Huggins Favors Senators Over Pirates in Big World Series Classic

New York—(P)—Pittsburgh's pennant march in the National League race continues unimpeded. Bolstered by seven consecutive victories, the Pirates need to win but three more of their remaining nine games to nail the flag to their mast. Washington needs five of its scheduled twelve games to triumph in the American League.

The Corsairs pounded out a 9 to 7 verdict over the Phillies Monday. Hazen Cuyler, Pittsburgh outfielder, hit safely in his first two times at bat, running his string of straight hits to ten.

The Robins have been losing as consistently as the Pirates have been winning. Brooklyn dropped its eighth straight to the Cubs, 3-2, which paces the Robins practically out of reach of the first division this season.

Five pitchers failed to stay the Braves and the Reds lost, 7-6. Walker of Cincinnati hit a homer with one on base in the first inning. Rain washed away the Giant-Cards game in St. Louis.

The Athletics turned out a 10-7 victory in their last meeting with the Bengals this year.

Washington and the other American League clubs were not scheduled. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, favors the world champion's to beat the Pirates in the world series. He believes the Senator's pitching staff and veteran players give them the edge.

Cleveland—Peter Maltby won the Horse Revue's fururity at the Grand Circuit meeting.

Chicago—Louis R. Rettman was elected president of the Central A. A. U.

visit Manitowoc at the close of the season and arrange for the pitcher's tryout in 1926. Vnuk is 20 years old. He has lots of "stuf" but at times is somewhat wild, a fault which might be corrected in fast company.

TO GET TRYOUT

CARL "CULLY" SCHULTZ
Here's Cully Schultz, youthful third sacker of the Appleton Eastern Wisconsin loop ball club, who will get a tryout with Otto Borchert's Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association this week. Cully's work around the red light bag attracted the attention of Borchert's scouts. With a little coaching on his stickwork, the local youth should give a fair account of himself.

KAUKAUNA HIGHS WORK HARD FOR SHAWANO BATTLE

Coach Tiger Bill's Pessimistic
but Expects His Squad to Make Hosts Work

Kaukauna—With Shawano high school, 1924 champions of the Wisconsin River Valley conference, scheduled as the first opponent of the Kaukauna highs at Shawano on Saturday, candidates for the Electric city high grid squad are putting in plenty of extra workouts this week. Shawano will be one of the strongest teams met by a local squad in the last few years. The upstate crew has a crew veterans all of whom have seen service on last year's title squad. Their line is fast and heavy and Seering, a fullback, is said to be the class of northern Wisconsin. Appleton high school refused an early season game with Shawano because of its veteran squad. A fifty men report to Coach Carter daily.

HAS LARGEST SQUAD
Forty men, the largest squad that has ever reported for local football, according to school records, still are working out under Coach Tiger Bill Smith with no sign of a letup or any dropping from the squad. Reports from Appleton say that only between 20 and 35 reported there each night. Coach Smith still is pessimistic and refuses to see much promise in his boys, but they are in fine shape and local grid followers believe Tiger has a number of surprises under cover waiting for his big chance. Smith expects to be beaten by Shawano, but also expects to give the big Red team a hard scrap, thus getting a little training for his green men. Of course the Tiger's big aim in which many of his surprises should come out is the Appleton game. Tiger is striving to beat the Orange and Blue and a victory in that game would do much to wipe out an otherwise fair season.

PLENTY OF PEP
Kaukauna's pep cohorts led by the Red girls are working hard for the game and should show the town of Shawano the pep that keeps Kaukauna's teams near the top. Many students and townspeople are expected to follow the team in cars.

"Y" GYM CLASSES STARTED MONDAY

New Schedule Starts Classes Yesterday, Next Monday
and Early in October

Two of the gymnasium classes of Appleton Y. M. C. A. for the 1925-26 year were started on Monday. Several more will start next Monday and a few will be left until after the membership campaign early in October, according to A. P. Jensen, physical director. The bowling alleys will be opened Wednesday and all are in fine condition for a big season. Handball courts and tennis courts can be used at any time if arrangements are made by calling the association.

The classes which started Monday were the evening business man's class at 5:15 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoon and the noon business man's class at 12 o'clock at noon on the same days. Boys classes will be started Monday. A complete schedule for the year as given out by Mr. Jensen follows:

Evening business men's class—5:15 p. m. (Monday, Wednesday and Friday, started Monday); noon business

APPLETON YOUTH TO GET TRYOUT WITH MILWAUKEE

Cully Schultz, Papermaker
Red Light Guardian, Goes
to Cream City This Week

Carl "Cully" Schultz, star third sacker of the Appleton Eastern Wisconsin loop ball team, will be given a chance in faster company this week when he receives a tryout with Otto Borchert's Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association. In spite of a broken bone in his ankle which kept him out of several games and bothered him in later tilts, the fielding of local youth, together with fair batting ability, gave him the chance.

IS HARD FIGHTER
Cully is a peppy fighter, unafraid of the hardest hit ball, and if he can improve his batting should do well in his tryout. His willingness to go after any hard hit ball near him probably caused his injury this year and also caused him to make a few errors made by any hard-trying but inexperienced boy. Cully is about 22 and was one of the two young men picked on an all-star league team this year.

All of the other players being vets of years' standing, most of whom had played in the Wisconsin State and Fox River Valley Leagues when these loops were at their best. The local boy's only experience has been with local amateur nines, none of which were of real classy calibre.

SCHRAMM GETS CHANCE
Another man who will make the trip to the Brewers star hurler is Louis "Louie" Schramm star hurler of the Fondy team and strikout king of the loop. Louie also is a youngster, but one of the leading hurlers in this part of the state. He is a speed-ball artist and should be developing a real curve and more coolness he will go well in the A. A. He struck out 19 Appleton men in a game a few weeks ago for the loop record. He has beaten the local crew once and held it to a tie once in his last two starts against the Baetzmen.

JOEY KLEIN
This speedy Milwaukee batter is the boy who hits his biggest rival, also from the Cream city, in the second of the two big ten round battles on the double windup card of the Appleton Athletic club here Thursday

WALSH FAILS TO QUALIFY IN MEET

Local Pro Star Forced to Play
in Consolation Round at National Pro Tourney

Chicago—Sixteen of the thirty two qualifiers in the championship contest of the professional golfers association were destined for elimination Tuesday in 36 holes match round over courses No. 3 and 4 of the Olympia fields country club. The outstanding match of the day was between Walter Hagen of Pasadena, Fla., present title holder, and Al Watrous of Grand Rapids, Michigan who was medalist in the qualifying round with 140 strokes. Watrous played par 70 on each course while Hagen was well down the list with 151.

ONLY TWO BEHIND
One of the two Wisconsin entries in the National Professional Golfers' association meet was qualified for further play in the elimination round here Monday. The other failed to make the grade and will play in the consolation round.

Jack Blakeslee of Kenosha by virtue of his 75-76-151, which tied him for thirteenth place on the medalist list, meets H. Cooper of Dallas, Tex., tomorrow. Frank Walsh of Butte des Morris, Appleton, Wis., goes into the consolation round, his best Monday being 80-79-159.

Blakeslee played a nice game being steady and cool throughout. Fighting a stiff wind, he turned in three birdies on his morning round and two on the afternoon. His drives were exceptionally long and it was only his erratic putting that kept him out of the class of Al Watrous, medalist, who scored 140, or Bill Meihorn who followed close with 143.

Walsh's game was not up to the standard of the stuff here Monday. Sprinkled with sixes, it was a considerable feat to be only two strokes beyond the qualifying figures of 157.

AD STONE TAKES EASY WIN OVER ERNIE OWEN

Chicago—Ad Stone, former marine of Philadelphia, had little difficulty after the third round in overcoming Ernie Owens, Los Angeles, light heavyweight, in a ten round contest at East Chicago, Ind., Monday night. Owens appeared to tire rapidly after a slashing attack in the first three rounds and was cautioned for stalling in the ninth. Well-placed rights to the chin from Stone brought no counter attack. He weighed 180 and Stone 132.

Big Rally In Final Round Gives Mickey Walker Win Over Leading Challenger

New Jersey Battler Demon-

Crown by Clean Comeback

Shade, one of the most elusive marks in the ring, traded punches, toe to toe, with the champion. After winning the early rounds, Walker lost ground under the sharp shooting right handers of the contender in the seventh, eighth, and tenth sessions.

SHADE TAKES LEAD
Shade, one of the most elusive marks in the ring, traded punches, toe to toe, with the champion. After winning the early rounds, Walker lost ground under the sharp shooting right handers of the contender in the seventh, eighth, and tenth sessions.

CHAMP RALLIES
The champion rallied in the eleventh, but the twelfth and thirteenth found Shade still strongly pressing. Walker then held his challenger even with heavy body blows in the fourteenth to finish with a clog-rush which found Shade bleeding at the mouth and ear and on the verge of a knockout.

Walker weighed 144½; Shade 147.

Chicago, Ill.—Pal Moore, Memphis bantamweight, was matched to meet Tiger Jack Burns, Oakland, Calif., 115 pounder, in ten rounds at Aurora Friday.

Kaukauna—Three more grid games for the 1925 season have been scheduled in the last few days by Edward Rennicke, manager of the American Legion squad, 1922-23-24 amateur champions of Wisconsin. With the first battle coming on Sunday when the strong Sturgeon Bay city team invades Kaukauna, the men are hard for another championship season. The games scheduled by Manager Rennicke include Peshigo city team at Kaukauna, and Menasha city team one of the valley's strongest amateur squads, at Kaukauna and Menasha in a two-game series. Manager Rennicke is negotiating with several of the strongest state amateur eleven for the remainder of the Legion schedule and expects to have it filled soon.

EXPECT WIN SUNDAY
Thirty men, including all but two members of the state title team of the last two years are reporting every practice night to Coach William Ashai. All the men look to be in fine shape and prospects for a win over the Cherry city squad on Sunday are good. A big parade and plenty of noise will be on the program for the opener and a large attendance is looked for.

MORTGAGED CAR

Kimberly Man Agrees to Settle With Dealer if He Is Given Time to Raise Money

Charles Tubbs, Kimberly, who is alleged to have sold a car which he had obtained on a conditional sales plan from the Appleton Auto Co., and whose trial was set for Tuesday morning in municipal court agreed to settle with the Appleton Auto Co., if given a few days to raise the money, and trial was adjourned until Saturday.

The auto company held a chattel mortgage on the car which Tubbs secured, but Tubbs sold the car a few days after it came into his hands. He said he was badly in need of funds, and had to have a quick way of raising money.

Tubbs also was arrested a short time ago for driving a car without a license. When questioned he said he had applied for a license in July, but that it had been slow in coming. Investigations were made at the state department at Madison, and it was found that Tubbs had made no application for an auto license. He has agreed to settle for both charges against him when he appears in municipal court Saturday.

Cook Book Scheme and Program for Sheriffs Do Not Bear Approval of Committee

Two advertising solicitations which are in progress here have been called to the attention of the indorsement committee of the chamber of commerce, and are being made without the usual credentials for such visitation among the merchants and manufacturers.

One is a proposal for a cook book by which the women of a local church hope to earn some money. The chamber of commerce is opposed to the proposition because a congregation was induced to accept it the arrangement was made without the usual credentials for such visitation among the merchants and manufacturers.

The other is a convention prospectus which a group of outside solicitors say is sanctioned by the state association of sheriffs. Prices of $200 a page and $100 for a half page are asked of those who have been approached. When a manufacturer asked what all the money was to be used for, they declared it would go into a fund which would be used for the defense of sheriffs in case suits were filed against them.

Sheriff Peter Schwartz declared he knew little about the proposition and was trying to learn more from the solicitors as soon as he can get in touch with them. He feels the proposal has the indorsement of the state association but was not advised concerning the fund for legal suits. The book is understood to be issued per sheriffs in Milwaukee. The solicitors were asked to obtain the indorsement of the chamber of commerce but have not visited that office.

BOY INTERVIEWS

Boyology Expert Will Meet Teen Age Boys Every Morning from 10 O'clock Until Noon

Personal interview work of Frank H. Gamel, who is visiting this city for two weeks, is underway at two of the schools. Mr. Gamel gave a short talk at 10 o'clock Monday morning to the boys of the high school, explaining the interview work and then began his work. At 11 o'clock he carried on the same work at the vocational school. Each day of the week Mr. Gamel will be at the high school from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning and at the vocational school from 11 to 12 o'clock, to see personally as many boys as possible in that time.

Any older boy in Appleton, whether in school or working may see Mr. Gamel on any problem. Mr. Gamel will talk to as many as possible and probably will be able to hear most of the cases. Boys who desire personal interviews with the boyology expert are requested to call John W. Pugh, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., at 2266 as soon as possible to make all arrangements.

TOWER BUILDING

Troops 4, 5 and 7 Have Work Well in Hand—Several Meetings Are Announced

Tower building is one of the activities in which many of the boy scout troops of Valley council, Boy Scouts of America, are being trained as the season gets under way.

Instruction with troops 4 and 5 along this line will be continued by P. O. Kiecher, scout executive, at a joint meeting after school Wednesday afternoon at the First ward school grounds. These two troops have had one or two lessons and expect to complete the training at the next meeting.

Troops No. 7, Menasha, was taught tower building Monday afternoon by Mr. Kiecher and accomplished the task in 38 minutes. He expects to have the boys so expert that they can erect one in 15 minutes.

The tower consists of a high base and a platform and is used for boy scout signaling.

Menasha's newest boy scout troop will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening at the Congregational church there. More boys will be enrolled at that time and plans made for troop activities.

SULTAN'S U. S. BIRDMEN

BOMBARD MOOR REBELS

Ouezzan, Morocco—(P)—Although the United States government has ruled that the American aviators who risked life in France and now are serving under the colors of Abdul Yusuf, sultan of Morocco, are violating the laws of the United States, this fact apparently has not served to lower their morale.

Daily they are flying over the lines and bombing Moorish rebel towns and concentrations of rebels.

Plans of explosives have been looted by the members of the sheriff's squadron, as the organization formed by the Americans is known. The destruction wrought by the American airmen is described as very great.

The Americans say they feel justified in seeing under the sultan's flag, they have taken no oath of allegiance and signed no enlisted papers. They can leave when they desire, but say they will remain.

TRAGEDY OF AGE IS NEGLECT OF SONS' TRAINING

Gamel Declares Lack of Adult Supervision Is Responsible for Boys' Wrongdoing

The most heart-breaking tragedy of our age is that multitude of things that are done by boys that they cannot find time to do things with them," Frank H. Gamel, noted worker with boys, declared in an address to Appleton Lions club at the weekly luncheon Monday noon. Mr. Gamel is in the city to conduct a two weeks campaign among boys of the city. His visit here is sponsored by the luncheon clubs and the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Gamel decried the tendency of men to delegate the most important tasks of their lives—the training of their boys—to others. "The most important thing in our lives is to train our sons, yet we trust this to hired hands," he said. "The teachers to whom we delegate this all important work may be ever so competent but they are not able to take the place of a sympathetic father."

BOY WANTS TO BE GOOD
In his experience of 39 years with young men Mr. Gamel has found that every boy wants to be good, he said. "If a boy goes wrong it is because of a lack of proper adult leadership," he declared. "When a boy goes wrong it is because of the perversion of some fine instinct," and he proceeded to show how young men wandered off the narrow paths because their instincts were not directed in the proper channels.

"The world is traveling fast somewhere," he said. "We do not know where we are going but we are getting there rapidly. Every invention of science increases the speed at which we are traveling. Every day we are learning new sources of power and of speed but we are not learning to control them, and this does not make the best possible combination."

"The high school boy has been caught by the spirit of the times. He too is traveling fast, old restraints have been removed, old ideals have been forgotten. The youth of today follows the line of least resistance. He knows more about life at 15 than his father did at 25. And the pity of it is that the condition which excites the curiosity of the youth and stimulates his appetite operates to keep dad so busy he cannot watch his son. And no other generation needed watching more than this one. Boys are being thrown on their own resources and many of them haven't any resources to fall back on."

Mr. Gamel said the two major responsibilities of every man are to make of himself the finest type of man that it is possible to make and then to leave a successor who will "carry on when the man has gone the limit."

MORE HUNTERS THAN CHICKENS

Lack of Snow Blamed for Decrease in Number of Prairie Chickens This Year

Hunters are more numerous than prairie chickens this year, according to the report of local sportsmen who have already made several excursions after this wild fowl and come back empty handed. This is not due to any extraordinary increase in the number of hunters, but to an appreciable decrease in the number of chickens.

That prairie chickens are less numerous this season than at any time during the past several years is the opinion of hunters who have tried their hand at bagging a few of the wild fowl. Those who returned with one or two birds were fortunate indeed, as the great majority came back with empty sacks.

Lack of snow the past winter is generally regarded as the principle reason for so few chickens. With scarcely any snow on the ground, the birds were unable to find protection from winter's icy blasts, their food supply was damaged, and hundreds died from exposure and lack of nourishment.

The season for prairie chicken and hen of hunters because of the closed season is over, but it is not great, and does not compare with the decrease in the number of chickens.

The season for prairie chicken and grouse will close Tuesday. It opened Saturday, Sept. 19. In many of the counties throughout the state the season was closed altogether.

MENTORS MEET TO OUTLINE THEIR WORK FOR YEAR

Teachers of Public Schools in Six Groups to Study Educational Problems

With all of the Appleton public schools well underway, work for teachers meeting during the school year has been outlined at the office of the city superintendent of schools. The groups are divided into six study groups and each group will hold meetings at scheduled times during the year to go over its work. The groups' kindergarten teachers; first and second grade teachers; third and fourth grade teachers; fifth and sixth grade teachers, grade school principals, the high school principals. The initial meeting of the fifth and sixth grade teachers with Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, was held Monday evening. The program for the music and drawing work was to be given out. Work on these programs took up much time as a schedule for the three teachers Mr. Baker, supervisor of music, Miss Bidwell, assistant supervisor of music, and Miss Krippner, supervisor of drawing, had to be worked out.

Mr. Baker is to appear once a month in each room of the elementary schools and Miss Bidwell twice a month. That is 59 rooms to be covered in a month beside appearing three times a week in the junior high school. Miss Krippner will add the teaching of art in the junior high schools to her other work later in the year.

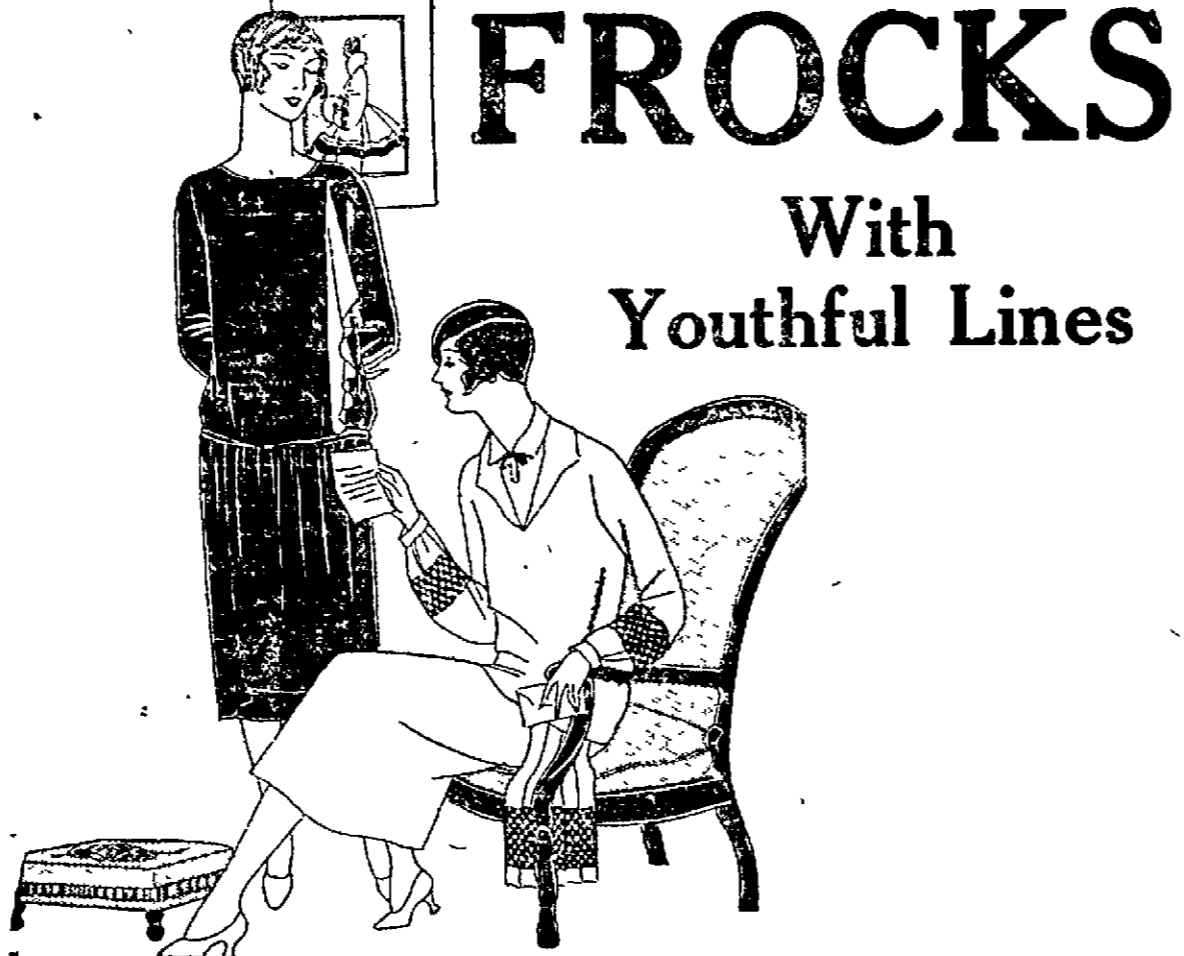

Walter Stupp of Niagara Falls, N. Y. is spending a two weeks vacation with friends and relatives in Appleton.
